

Inauguration Day to Be Busy One for Shafer Family

By WILLIAM E. DEIBLER
HARRISBURG (AP) — Inaugural ceremonies, like campaign promises and budgets, get bigger and more elaborate each time around — and Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer's inauguration today won't be an exception to the rule.

The Pennsylvania Inaugural Committee of 1967, responsible for planning and executing the day-long ceremonies, says Shafer's debut as the state's 39th governor will be the biggest event of its kind ever staged in Harrisburg.

Like past inaugurations, the event will blend elements of the majesty of a coronation, the solemnity of a canonization, and the gaiety of a carnival — hopefully each in just the right proportion. Capitol atmosphere on inauguration eve was a mixture of anticipation and elation, Republican officials and dignitaries from across the state began arriving over the weekend. The city's hotels and motels had been booked up weeks in advance.

Yesterday was a busy day for Republicans. First, the 16-member Republican State Committee met to elect New Castle Mayor John C. Jordan as the new GOP state chairman. Then in the evening about 4,000 party members attended a $100-a-plate "Shafer Victory Dinner" in the Farm Show Building, where Shafer is to take the oath of office today.

Shafer and the man he is succeeding, Gov. William Scranton, attended the dinner, at which Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., was the featured speaker. After the dinner, Shafer and his wife, Jane, returned to a suite in a downtown hotel where they were to spend the night. From the hotel, two blocks from the Capitol, the Shafers would be able to see the massive reviewing stand at the building's main entrance. The red, white and blue covered stand is to hold 950 dignitaries during a giant parade this afternoon.

This morning, the Shafers begin a long and memorable day at 9:15 a. m. when they leave their hotel and go to the House Chamber in the Capitol to witness the inauguration of John K. Tabor as Secretary of Internal Affairs.

At 9:30 a. m., the Shafers visit Gov. and Mrs. Scranton in the governor's private office. From there, they go to the Senate Chamber at 10:25 where Shafer, as lieutenant governor, is to preside as president of that chamber for the last time while Lt. Gov.-elect Raymond J. Broderick is inaugurated.

Shafer is to hold the Bible while Broderick is sworn in by Superior Court Judge Theodore O. Spaulding.

For the next 90 odd minutes, the state will have two lieutenant governors, since Shafer will

Fire Heavily Damages Chicago Convention Site

CHICAGO (AP)—A spectacular fire raced through the huge McCormick Place Exposition Center on the lakefront early yesterday causing damage estimated between $120 and $140 million. One death was reported.

Vincent Mathews, 51, a security guard who discovered the blaze, was credited with saving the lives of most of the estimated 150 persons in the building at the time. He flashed an alert on his walkie-talkie to security headquarters and then raced through the halls shouting a fire warning.

Teconchuk Seeks Commissioner Post in Primary

John Teconchuk of RD1, Pittsfield last night announced his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner. He will seek nomination in the May Republican primary.

Teconchuk, 54, has lived in the Pittsfield area most of his life. A retired farmer, he has,

John Teconchuk

In addition to farming, contracted for excavating and earth moving work throughout Warren County. During the 1950's he worked on oil rigs for Blain M. Mead (an incumbent county commissioner).

During World War II, Teconchuk served with the 9th Air Force in Europe. On active duty from 1942 to 1945, he flew fighters, bombers and transport planes, in addition to performing liaison work. He has been active in flying organizations locally.

He is a member of Saint Nicholas Catholic Church in Erie, and of the American Legion in Warren and the Eagles Club in Titusville.

Teconchuk said last night that he is particularly interested in the problem of housing for the elderly.

However, firemen searching the ruins after the fire was brought under control found the body of a man burned beyond recognition.

The 6-year-old McCormick Place, built of steel and reinforced concrete composition, was once described as more durable than the Roman Colosseum.

The blaze was discovered about 2 a.m. near an exhibit of the National Housewares Manufacturers Association show which was set to open yesterday. The flames raced through the exhibition hall of the 10-acre structure as security guards and cleaning employees fled for their lives.

The roof of the main exposition hall, an area as large as six football fields, collapsed. Sections of the walls toppled. Heat from the blaze twisted and curled massive steel girders that supported the roof and walls.

Most of the 2,357 booths which filled all the display space in the 486,000 square feet center were destroyed.

There were no injuries reported but several of the 475 firemen summoned to the scene required first aid for smoke inhalation.

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn estimated that the $40 million center suffered at least a 50 per cent damage loss.

Harold Greebe of Philadelphia, general contractor for the housewares show, said: "There was upward of $100 million worth of material in the exhibition — it looks like a total loss."

A fortune in diamonds may be among the loss.

Walter Hoy, a spokesman for the Dominion Electric Corp., said: "We had $25,000 in diamonds which were to be given away as a promotion. If everything's gone, they're gone too. They were $1,000 brooches designed by Harry Winston which were to be prizes in a Life magazine promotion around Mothers Day."

The big housewares show had attracted 60,000 persons to Chicago but Dolph Zapfel, managing director, said the event has been canceled.

However, some of the buyers and sellers arranged to meet in

Hamburger UFO Verified

DETROIT (AP)—An Air Force consultant and landing authority on so-called flying saucers said yesterday that pictures of a hamburger-shaped object, snapped by two Michigan teenagers, appeared authentic and tend to support reports of similar sightings.

"The striking thing to me is the similarity these pictures have to other photos I have seen and also to verbal descriptions I've taken from ostensibly reliable people," said Dr. J. Allen Hynek.

"To the best of my recollection even the 'antenna' shown on the back has been previously reported, as has the 'tail' structure," he added. The bearded, bespectacled Dr. Hynek, chairman of the astronomy department at Northwestern University near Chicago, has studied unidentified flying objects (UFO) for more than a decade. He is scientific adviser to the Air Force's Project Blue Book, coordinator of all UFO reports for the military.

Commenting in a copyrighted story in the Detroit News, Dr. Hynek said analysis of the pictures taken last week in suburban Macomb County "so far does not show any indication of an obvious hoax."

The News sought Dr. Hynek's views because it was he who came to the state last spring to investigate a rash of UFO sightings.

Those sightings, all involving mysterious hovering lights at night, were written off by the professor or as marsh gas, a phenomenon resulting from rotting vegetation.

In this case, however, Dan Jaroslaw, 17, and his brother, Grant, 15, used an inexpensive Polaroid camera to snap four separate shots of an oblong object with what appears to be a tail and an antenna.

The pictures were taken in the backyard of their home about 15 miles northeast of Detroit, only a mile or two from Selfridge Air Force Base, and about 10 miles across the water from the northern suburbs of Windsor, Ont. Selfridge reported no unusual radar sightings and said helicopters in the area did not spot the object.

"Being a Polaroid print offers less chance for darkroom chicanery," said Dr. Hynek. Adding to credibility, he said, was the fact that a series of pictures was taken rather than just one shot.

Copies of the original pictures are being studied by the Blue Book people at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, and by Dr. Hynek's staff.

County School Board Promises to Consider Teacher Salary Hikes

BY BILL LOMBARD

Warren County school teachers, through their association, last night asked for changes in the board increase of approximately $600 for the 1967-68 school year.

The request, submitted by a delegation from the Warren County Education Association, was taken under advisement by the Warren County School District Board of Education.

Melvin E. Keller, president of the board, told the teacher representatives that all board members were cognizant of the need for revision in the salary schedule and promised early consideration of the WCEA request.

Representing the association at the meeting were James Jewell, president, and the committee named to handle the salary question, headed by James Graziano, and also including Albert Barr, Elizabeth M. Bryan, R. Louise Swanson, Peter J. Carnovale and Felix Matthews.

Graziano as spokesman outlined the basic principles of a salary schedule as drafted by the association. They were listed as:

1. The welfare of the child should be the first consideration in determining teachers' salaries.
2. The more and the better the academic and professional preparation and the more successful experience a teacher has, the more salary he should receive.
3. The minimum salary should provide a living wage for 12 months at a standard of living which will attract young people of refinement and ability to teaching.
4. Salaries should be attractive enough to hold able, skillful and successful personnel in the system.
5. The salary schedule should permit teachers to acquire a respectable social and economic status in the community.
6. Salaries should increase efficiency and morale of all professional employees by assuring: (a) Adequate rest and recreation; (b) Reasonable outlays for maintenance of health; (c) Sufficient resources to meet temporary disabilities or emergencies.
7. The salary schedule should provide incentive and means for continued improvements in service.
8. Other elements being the same, the teacher in the grades should receive as much salary as the teacher in any other school division.
9. The salary schedule should be flexible enough to provide extra pay for extra duties and extra abilities.
10. Salary increases and attainable maximums should be so arranged that they: (a) Offer a career in teaching; (b) Induce the best young men and women from the high schools to enter the professions; (c) Secure constant improvement during the time of teaching; (d) Attract and hold more capable young men in the profession.

AT STARBRICK

County Correcting Crowded School

Warren County School District directors last night acted promptly on a request from a delegation of parents from the Starbrick area who asked for changes in the bus schedule and relief from present congested conditions at Starbrick Elementary School.

The board adopted a resolution that application be made to the State Department of Public Instruction for use of two so-called "portable classrooms" on the Starbrick site which may resolve the classroom crowding and transportation complications.

A delegation of about 15 parents attended the regular meeting of the Board of Education. Paul Bobelak acted as spokesman for the parents and filed a protest against the present bus schedule and the crowded condition at the Starbrick school which brought about the unsatisfactory conditions existing there.

Bobelak complained that his children, among the first to board the bus, left home at 7:15 a.m. arrived at school at 8 a.m. and were without grounds supervision until 9 a.m. The need for transportation of 5th and 6th grade students to North Warren due to the lack of classroom space at Starbrick was recognized as the chief cause of the bus difficulties.

Other parents joined in seeking information as to when Starbrick could expect a new school and why that area had not been given the same consideration as other districts in the building program. This was explained that the projects in the other areas had been initiated or advanced by their respective boards before the consolidation into the one county district and thus had some advancement over other needs in the way of additional facilities.

The directors later in the evening took steps to at least partially solve the problem through the plan for the two portable classrooms. These would be erected at the site and would cost in the neighborhood of $12,000 each. They are approximately 22 by 30 feet in size and can accommodate 30 to 35 pupils each. The additional facilities would permit return of the 5th and 6th grades to Starbrick and solve one of the big transportation problems now giving the parents headaches.

The board is moving the necessary forms in carrying out the project and expects to advance the portable room plan as rapidly as possible.

Tiona Baby, Five Months, Dies in Jamestown Crash

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — A five-month old Warren County boy died yesterday morning at WCA Hospital here of injuries suffered Sunday night in a traffic mishap.

The victim is Bryan Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Calhoun, Box 312, Tiona, Pa. The baby's head struck the windshield of the car driven by his father, after the man fell asleep and crashed into two cars and a telephone pole in front of 820 E. Second st., in Jamestown, according to state police.

Police report that Calhoun was travelling west on East Second when he crossed into the center lane and struck the pole and the cars which belonged to Raymond Turner, 28, of 820 E. Second. The Chautauqua County Coroner's office ruled the death accidental.

Calhoun, 18, was treated at the hospital for facial cuts sustained in the accident while Bryan's mother, Nancy, also 18, was admitted with facial cuts and possible facial fractures, police said.

Clarendon Firemen Extinguish Blaze At Remodeled Home

Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department, headed by Capt. Robert Walker, yesterday extinguished a fire at the home of Mrs. Clyde Jones, three miles south of Clarendon on the Chapman Dam road.

A ceiling and wall of the home that was being remodeled caught fire from a defective flue of an overheated stove.

The blaze was partially contained by a neighbor until firemen arrived.

Damage was reported to be light as the fire was confined to the ceiling and wood paneling. Firemen used water from Indian tanks that they carried on their backs to halt the blaze.

Jamestown Employees Go Unpaid

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—Jamestown, N. Y. city employees apparently will not be paid on schedule today because of City Council's failure to adopt a budget for 1967.

The council last night heard from representatives of the police department's Kendall Club and their objections to the $100 pay raise which the council agreed to for city employees at an unusual Saturday session last week.

Thomas Trusso, president of the Kendall Club, Police Benevolent Association, told the members of the council that the members of his organization were more interested in fringe benefits — such as more money for the police retirement fund, a 25-year retirement plan and a longevity program for long time members of the department — than they were in the token increase offered by the council.

It now appears that the earliest action by the council to approve a spending program will not occur before the middle of this week.

Controller Moreland Lazier has said that should the budget be approved the city employees would face a one or two day delay in receiving their pay in as much as an ordinance change will also have to be approved to give the city employees the pay raise.

Lazier told the council last night that as the budget stands now the city taxpayers face a tax increase of $4.15 per thousand dollars assessed valuation. Based on the figures available last night the new rate will be just short of $51.

Hannold Brothers Plead Innocent To Theft Charge

MAYVILLE, N. Y. — The Hannold brothers, Edwin, 23, and Gary, 25, pleaded innocent to third degree burglary charges yesterday in Chautauque County Court.

Gary, a former resident of Warren County, was apprehended in the county following a break-in Nov. 23, at Westfield. In other court action Judge Edwin G. O'Connor received an innocent plea from Richard E. Eaton, 30, of Route 3, Jamestown, N. Y. Eaton is charged with carrying a dangerous weapon.

Jessie Waite, 28, of 51 Fairmount ave., was sentenced to one-year terms each on two counts of burglary. He is accused of break-ins at two Jamestown business establishments last June, and had pleaded guilty December 28.

Mrs. June Haluska, 23, of Route 1, Frewsburg, N. Y., who had been indicted on a third degree burglary charge, had her case dismissed on the recommendation of District Attorney Robert J. Sullivan.

Raymond Johnson, 20, of 511 W. Fourth st., Jamestown, charged with burglary entered a plea of innocent as did Jack A. Nelson, 19, of 51 Smith ave., Celoron.

School Directors Told Of State Financing

Economy and services provided were advanced as advantages in State Public School Building Authority financing by a representative who spoke to Warren County School directors last night.

Edward W. Mills, assistant executive director, appeared before the County School Board to outline the advantages of state authority over municipal authority in financing of school projects. He stressed that economy and the services which are provided are the major advantages, citing the better interest cost figures which are possible and the extended services which are offered under the state setup.

Basic and related costs under the State and municipal authority plans also were compared by Mills in a comprehensive outline of the services rendered by the State Public School District and the satisfaction of districts which have employed its services.

Mills pointed out that the State Authority really is a service agency, acting for the district at all times. The setup has been functioning for about 15 years and the representative declared that its officials believe the long experience invaluable to participating districts in coping with the problems which attend building projects, emphasizing that it directed the financing and continued on the job not only through the actual construction but for a period following completion of the project to handle any corrective steps that might be found necessary.

Considerable routine business came before the directors at the two and one-half hour session, which was followed by a teachers' committee meeting. The board approved notification of the architect to proceed with preliminary drawings for the proposed new Clarendon Elementary School. The site for the new building recently received the O.K. of the state department, paving the way for work on the preliminary drawings for a building suited to the site. Steps also will be taken to notify property owners in a move to obtain the necessary parcels involved in the building program.

The directors went on record as interested in a vocational-educational program but deemed further study would be necessary before any concrete steps in this direction could be taken. Dr. Barratt declared a change in legislation to permit second class districts to proceed with their own vocational programs actually was needed before the Warren County School District could take any definite steps in such a program. The directors emphasized their interest in a program, rather than a school, which would indicate possible incorporation of some vocational training in the present school system.

A net loss of $7,882.10 in the cafeteria operation for the first three months of the school year prompted the board to approve an increase of five cents in all meals effective Feb. 1.

Bills totalling $236,495.74 were approved and ordered paid. The board also adopted the finance committee's recommendation that $250,000 of 90-day United States Treasury bills be purchased.

Three new teachers were named. They are James Fehman, Warren Area High, Math; Patrick Cronmiller, North Warren Elementary, Grade 5, and Mary Ann Greenalch, Youngsville High, Spanish.

Three resignations also were accepted: Card Christensen, Russell Elementary, Grade 3; Robert Winters, McClintock Elementary, Grade 5, and Nyla Kauffman, Warren Area High, math.

Salary

included in the salary increase petition, the same ranging from a 1.03 ratio to 2.25 times the base salary.

Fringe benefits sought by the association were listed as follows:

1. Term life insurance equal to annual salary.
2. Unlimited sick leave accumulated at rate of 10 days per year.
3. One-half individual's share of Blue Cross, Blue Shield and major medical.

4. Reimbursement of tuition cost up to $25 per credit for approved work beyond teaching certificate.

5. It is requested that a teacher receive full experience credit in determining salary. It is recommended that teachers get $900 per year until they are on the proper step level.

The ratio plan for salary revision was advanced. Graziano, pointed out, because it offered an easier method of calculation under the graduated annual increase, was better for public relations in use of a percentage rather than an outright amount stipulation and was being adopted by other boards in setting up salary schedules.

The association asked for an increase of $2,500 per year in the salary of Dr. Thomas K. Barratt to bring it in line with superintendents of comparable districts of the state.

The board did not discuss the salary request but Keller inferred that consideration has been given the salary matter and that members were aware of the need of some upward revision. He promised early consideration of the teachers' petition and promised action would be taken within a reasonable time.

Inauguration

to Shafer, who will use an 87-year-old Bible which belonged to his father, the late Rev. David Philip Shafer.

Shafer, as Scanton did four years earlier, is to have clergymen of four denominations take part in the ceremony. They are:

The Rev. Paul A. Remick, pastor of the First Christian Church of Lemoyne; the Most Rev. Alfred M. Watson, auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Erie; Rabbi Bertram Korn of Kildas Park; and the Rev. Peter A. Atzules, pastor of the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church of Harrisburg.

After Shafer takes the oath of office, a National Guardsman will unfurl the Governor's Flag, and a National Guard unit will fire a 19-gun salute. The new governor then is scheduled to give a 10-minute inaugural speech.

Shafer and his party then are to return to the Capitol at 1 p. m. for a luncheon — actually a series of seven luncheons are to be held in various parts of the Capitol to accommodate all the official visitors.

With most of the solemn aspects of the day behind, the tempo of the inauguration will pick up at 2 p. m., when Shafer, Broderick and their wives are to head a two-hour long inaugural parade. The parade is to be televised.

The final event, the Inaugural Ball, is to begin at the Farm Show Building at 9 p. m. However, the Shafers won't arrive until 10 p. m., their arrival time to coincide with the beginning of an hour-long telecast of the event.

Publishers, Author, Mrs. Kennedy Agree

By RELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy yesterday ended her lawsuit against William Manchester and the publishers of his book, "The Death of a President," in a legally approved agreement.

State Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Strett signed a consent decree, clearing the way for publication of the book next April.

Representatives of all the parties to the dispute issued a joint statement which read: "Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Harper & Row (publishers), and William Manchester have resolved the differences which led to legal action. Certain personal passages of concern to Mrs. Kennedy have been deleted or modified by mutual agreement of all the parties."

"Therefore, Mrs. Kennedy has terminated her lawsuit. All parties agreed that the historical record has not been censored in any way."

The statement expressed regret "the questions in dispute could not have been settled earlier."

An informant said some of the points in the agreement were:

1. Letters to Mrs. Kennedy and her children, Caroline and John, from President Johnson will not be published without his consent.

2. The tape recordings of Manchester's interviews with Mrs. Kennedy totaling 10 hours, will be deposited under seal in the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library. The tapes have been in Manchester's possession.

3. Each book will contain a publisher's note which says: "Harper & Row wishes to make it clear that neither Mrs. Kennedy nor Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has in any way approved or endorsed the material appearing in this book. The author, William Manchester, and the publishers assume complete and sole responsibility."

A source close to the Kennedys said, "In fact, there is a lot in the book of which we don't approve."

State Hospital Fire Hits Construction Area

Dr. John Urbaitis, assistant superintendent at Warren State Hospital, last night announced that the fire which occurred on the hospital grounds last night was in the construction area and was not near any building housing patients.

The fire was reported in the new geriatrics building, where a "salamander" boiled over, spilling oil onto a plastic cover and catching it on fire. Damage was very minor.

New Post's Committee Meets Today

Committee members of new Explorer Post 53, sponsored by U.S. Forest Service, meets at 10 a. m. this morning at the Allegheny National Forest Supervisor's office in the Warren National Bank Building, for a training session.

At this first of three training sessions the committee will be briefed on the organization of Explorer posts, their activities and opportunities.

The committee, including representatives of the sponsoring agency, is: Lee Kelley, Allegheny National Forest Supervisor; Deputy Supervisor Don Gorton; Laurence Stolz, Forest Ranger, Sheffield District, committee chairman; Forest Ranger William Rusin, Sheffield Ranger District, post advisor; and Ted Grisz.

Conducting the training session are: Scout Executive William Wolfersberger and District Scout Executive John Kloos of Chief Complaner Council Boy Scouts of America.

'The Book' Not Only Kennedy Censureship

NEW YORK (AP) — Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard disclosed yesterday that Mrs. John F. Kennedy got changes made in two books about her husband last year in addition to William Manchester's "The Death of a President."

In an article in the magazine Saturday Review, Galbraith — who was Kennedy's ambassador to India — identified the book as "With Kennedy," by Pierre Salinger, and "The Pleasure of His Company," by Paul B. Fay, Jr.

Galbraith said he read both manuscripts for Mrs. Kennedy and her brother-in-law, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and that at her behest deletions were made in each book prior to publication.

Although Galbraith did not say so, it appeared in the light of later events that Fay declined to go along with the President's widow on a number of requested deletions, and that she resented it.

Last Dec. 6, a spokesman for Mrs. Kennedy said she had turned down a $3,000 donation by Fay to the Kennedy Memorial Library. The spokesman declined to say why, but there were reports that Mrs. Kennedy objected to some portions of the book by Fay, former undersecretary of the Navy.

In his Saturday Review article, Galbraith said both the book by Fay and the one by Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, "made use of I am not clear how much of the privilege of personal materials."

"In neither were there any deletions that could conceivably have been considered of historical consequences," he said. "Most involved the elimination of language or anecdotes which, out of context, cast reflection on the dignity of the office of President or which might, without purpose have injured the feelings of personal friends of President Kennedy."

Demos Hold Confirmation Of Cabinet Appointees

By PAUL ZDINAK
HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Democrats voted in caucus yesterday to hold up confirmation of two appointments to the Shafer cabinet — the adjutant general and insurance commissioner.
Conditional approval was given by the minority Democrats to Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer's selection of Maj. Frank McKetta as state police commissioner.
The Democrats planned to leave the door open for any further questions on McKetta but the immediate indication was that he would be confirmed today Inauguration Day.
The majority Senate Repubcans plan to submit cabinet appointments for confirmation shortly after Shafer is inaugurated at noon as governor.

The Senate met alone yesterday and gave final Senate approval to eight proposed constitutional amendments and sent them to the House.
If passed finally there they would go on the ballot for a vote by the people.
Being delayed by Senate Democrats are Shafer's appointments of David O. Maxwell as insurance commissioner and the reappointment of Adj. Gen. Thomas R. White Jr.
Since a two-third's vote is required for confirmation, Senate Democrats would have to supply seven votes even though they are in the minority.

Republicans plan to submit 15 appointments for confirmation today including that of McKetta. Those confirmed would be sworn in later that afternoon.
As for the proposed constitutional amendments which passed seven are of an article-by-article nature while the eighth would establish a $500 million conservation fund.
Prime among the seven amendments are those which would permit a governor to succeed himself for a second term and lower the voting residency requirements.

The Democratic committee on executive nominations announced that the nomination of White has been referred to the full Senate committee on executive nominations for possible hearings.

Senate Republicans also cautioned on Shafer's cabinet.
"As far as I know, I don't believe there is much opposition to any appointee," Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said afterward.

Following a very busy session, the Senate adjourned until this morning. The House also will meet in the morning but solely for the purpose of being present for the inauguration.

Imposter Arrested At Shaker Heights For Diamond Theft

CLEVELAND (AP) — FBI agents arrested a Shaker Heights woman yesterday on a charge of taking two diamond rings valued at $37,500 from a Philadelphia jewelry store Nov. 30 while posing as the wife of a prominent Negro athlete.
Agents said the woman, Doris Payne, 39, was arrested at her $30,000 home in Shaker Heights. She was released later on $2,500 bond and is to appear Jan. 23 before U.S. Commissioner Clifford Bruce.
She is being investigated in Buffalo, N.Y., and Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Wallace Takes Office; Husband Seeks Presidency

By REX THOMAS
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. George C. Wallace became Alabama's first woman governor yesterday and quickly joined her husband, a likely candidate for President, in a renewed promise to continue the struggle for "freedom."
Her words and those of the outgoing governor left little doubt that Wallace expects to run for President again in 1968 as he did three years ago.

The new governor, a blonde 40-year-old mother of four children who has accompanied her husband on many of his political journeys, took the oath as governor standing on the spot where Jefferson Davis was sworn in as president of a rebellious Confederacy 106 years ago.

Along with her family Bible, she also used the one with which Davis was inaugurated.

Mrs. Wallace told a cheering throng gathered at the foot of the Capitol steps that she ran for governor to enable her husband to "take our fight for states rights to the final court of appeal — the people of the United States."

Wallace, introducing his wife, recalled his campaign trips into Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland during the 1964 presidential race and declared: "Where you sent us we have gone. And now, where you would send us, we will go."

The inaugural ceremonies were dedicated to the fighting men in Vietnam, and in deference to their sacrifice, Mrs. Wallace and her husband canceled the traditional inaugural ball. They said the merrymaking would be inappropriate.
An estimated 100,000 visitors joined residents of Montgomery along the route of the inaugural parade and cheered the new governor as she rode in an open car.

For her inauguration, she wore a black cashmere suit with small matching hat, and a string of pearls and diamond earrings as accessories.

Mrs. Wallace told her listeners that her election last November is proof that the determination of a free people to govern themselves "will not be suppressed by force, from China, from Russia, from Cuba, and from Washington, D.C."

"It is notice that the people of Alabama, whose motto is 'We Dare Defend Our Rights,' are not in a mood to sit idly by and surrender our constitutional system of government or a single one of its freedoms by default," she said.

Cleveland Teachers May Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Teachers Union authorized its leaders yesterday to call a strike Thursday unless an agreement is reached with the city school board by then.

More than 2,500 teachers approved the action during a standing vote taken in a hotel.

Although the meeting was closed to newsmen, the voice of union President James O'Meara could be heard outside the ballroom.

"I don't think we have to argue," said O'Meara after those favoring a strike stood. "We're all together."

The Cleveland Teachers Union, which claims half of the city's 6,000 public school teachers as members, rejected a school board offer last week that would have raised the salaries of beginning teachers from $5,300 to $5,750.

Maximum teachers salaries on that scale ranged from $9,329 to $10,250 for teachers with master's degrees.

O'Meara has said that if the union strikes Thursday "we will stay out until we get a settlement."

Women's Eyes Will Be Watching GOP Wives

HARRISBURG (AP) — Most women have difficulty seeing road signs, but they can spot whether another woman is wearing a bateau or an empire neckline at 50 paces on a foggy night.

And that's why Mrs. Jane Shafer and not her husband, Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer, will be the stellar attraction for the staff audience watching tonight's televised Inaugural Ball at the Farm Show Building.

For the occasion, Mrs. Shafer has decided to wear a full-length aqua silhouette gown of silk and wool. The formal dress has elbow-length sleeves and a round neckline. The bodice is embroidered with aqua bugle beads and seed pearls. The sleeves of a matching full length coat feature the same embroidery.

Mrs. Shafer has chosen a green wool suit for daytime inauguration wear.

The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission has already announced that it hopes to acquire Mrs. Shafer's gown for its planned permanent collection of "First Lady Inaugural Ball Gowns."

Mrs. Marjorie Broderick, wife of Lt. Gov.-elect Raymond J. Broderick, will wear a classically simple full-length gown of white silk with a bateau neckline. A matching cardigan jacket is embellished with four rhinestone buttons and an ermine embroidered neckline. The jacket also features small white silk bows on each shoulder.

Mrs. John K. Tabor, wife of the Secretary of Internal Affairs-elect, will be wearing a pink satin floor-length gown with a pink and lilac bodice.

The Shafers are to dance the first dance to a tune they personally selected: "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You."

After that, Lt. Gen. Milton G. Baker, inaugural committee chairman, is to escort the Shafer's eldest daughter, Diane, to the floor.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 guests are expected to attend the ball—the largest crowd ever to assemble for an inaugural ball.

U.S. Planes Bomb Oil Depots Within 14 1/2 Miles of Hanoi

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers hammered an oil depot within 14 1/2 miles of Hanoi yesterday. Pilots said they sighted Communist MIGs, but none challenged them in the closest major air strike to the North Vietnam capital since the outcry last month over Hanoi's claims of civilian casualties.
In the biggest ground operation of the war, allied troops methodically cleared a Viet Cong jungle redoubt 20 miles north of Saigon. The rumble of planes supporting 30,000 American and Vietnamese infantrymen in Operation Cedar Falls could be heard in the South Vietnamese capital.
The U.S. supersonic jets pounded the Hai Gai fuel stores area 14 1/2 miles north-northwest of Hanoi. An Air Force spokesman said the pilots spotted some MIGs during the flight, but that no clashes occurred. The depot had been hit on Dec. 2 and 5.
Hanoi claimed the shooting down of a U.S. plane 75 miles northwest of Hanoi, along with a pilotless U.S. reconnaissance plane about 25 miles southwest of Hanoi. The New China News agency in Peking broadcast the claim.

U.S. pilots took advantage of clearing skies over the north for the second day after more than two months of almost unceasing poor weather. The pilots flew a total of 94 missions, ranging from the Red River delta down through the southern panhandle. In forays Sunday, pilots reported light to heavy groundfire with two flights of Air Force jets sighting MIGs. Three targets were pounded, 15 to 40 miles north of Hanoi, including the Viet Tri railroad yard. Light to heavy groundfire was encountered but no MIG opposition.

A CH-47 Chinook helicopter was shot down in the Mekong River delta seven miles southwest of Can Tho, killing eight U.S. servicemen, a military spokesman said. A ninth man was listed as missing.
In other action yesterday, U.S. B-52 bombers hit twice within 40 minutes at Communist base camps 58 miles north-northwest of Qui Nhon on the South China Sea coast. U.S. pilots flew 371 sorties over the south Sunday, and South Vietnamese pilots 78.

In the delta, Vietnamese rangers clashed with a Viet Cong force estimated at 500 men just two miles from a prison camp where Vietnamese and U.S. military authorities said Communist guerrillas slew 41 prisoners, including some women and children, and dumped the bodies in a common grave.
Seven persons survived. One said the Viet Cong began the killings when government troops approached the camp south of the town of Vi Thanh.

GOP Outspends Demos 2-1 in Recent Election

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican success in the 1966 elections bears a partial price tag of more than $7.6 million, almost twice the national spending reported by the Democrats.
Records filed with the clerk of the House showed yesterday that Republican national organizations reported spending $7,613,321.91 while similar Democratic groups listed $4,268,484.17. These totals come from reports by several groups in each party because the law limits any single organization to a maximum of $3 million.
These totals represent only a part of the actual, over-all spending in the quest for votes. They do not include spending by state and local party groups or by candidates themselves.

In both House and Senate races, GOP candidates benefited considerably more from national spending than did their Democratic opponents. Many GOP candidates for the House received as much as $15,000, while few Democratic candidates got as much as $3,000.

The much-publicized President's Club, which peddles membership to Democrats who can afford to pay $1,000 and up, spent $1,416,645.21 during the year, but nearly a million constituted a transfer of funds to the Democratic National Committee to pay off 1964 campaign debts.

Thus, the Democratic National Committee, which took in $2,904,763.99 during the year including the transfer, spent only $1,039,763.99. Its only help to Democratic congressional candidates was in the form of $1,000 and $2,500 contributions sent out just before the Nov. 8 election.
The Republican National Committee took in $2,818,353.11 and spent $2,610,984.43, while the Republican National Finance Operations Committee, which operates separately, took in $404,094.84 and spent $329,773.14.

Recognition Long Overdue

It is nice that Governor-elect Raymond P. Shafer is remembering this end of the state and its leaders in his appointments to the Cabinet and in the plans for the administration which he is about to inaugurate. Ray Shafer has restored Western Pennsylvania to the Commonwealth. For far too long, the Northwest-ern Pennsylvania sector in particu- lar has been forgotten down at Har- risburg. We received little—a visit once or twice by the major candi- dates before election but little in the way of recognition or rightful

No-Load Mutual Funds—I

Within the next several weeks, mutual funds will start to "explode" on the nation's front pages.

The Securities & Exchange Commission will submit legisla- tion to Congress designed to force the funds to slash their "ex- cessive" sales charges (loads) to investors. The $38.2 billion mutual fund industry will bitterly con- test the propo- sals. The debate over whether the sales fees are, as the SEC charges, "unjustified" and whether broad new legisla- tion to protect the public is needed almost surely will con- fuse many of the 3,500,000 own- ers of mutual shares. With an estimated $350 million a year in broker-dealer-investment adviser fees at stake, this is cer- tain to be a prolonged and complex battle.

But out of the Congressional hearings, will come major re- forms which will benefit "Aunt Jane." Out of them too may come another "plus"—grow- ing public awareness of the existence of the "no-load" mu- tual fund.

The no-load mutual fund is a significant investment medium, but it is known to only a rela- tive few. Before the headlines begin to appear, here, there- fore, is a series of "Q's" & "A's" columns to give you the basic facts.

Q. What are no-load mutual funds?

A. They are precisely the same as the load funds. Specifi- cally, they are a medium

1RT BUCHWALD Superbowl In Washington

WASHINGTON — Americans have been subjected to so much football on television this season that it's very difficult for any of us to look at anything except in football terms. I couldn't help thinking as I watched President Johnson deliver his State of the Union speech last week how it would have been reported by two football commentators. "Good evening, folks. Welcome to the Credibility

Bowl, another wonderful State of the Union classic between the Great Society Longhorns and the hardhitting American Solons, who haven't won a con- test against the Great Society team in three years.

"The backfield for the Great Society team is the same as last year. At quarterback for his third year is Lyndon B. Johnson, at fullback Lyndon B. Johnson, at halfback Lyndon B. Johnson and at flanker Lyndon B. Johnson. The line is com- posed of the famed seven blocks of Lyndon.

"The Solons are fielding a strong defensive team of Re- publicans and Southern conser- vatives this year and are ex- pected to give Great Society some serious opposition.

"Great Society has won the toss and team captain Lyndon B. Johnson has elected to kick off and receive at the same time. "Quarterback Johnson comes out of the huddle, takes the snap from center and hands off the ball to the fullback who hits the line for no gain. Halfback Johnson tries a run around end, but the rugged Solon line is holding and once again Great Society shows no appreciable gain. It's third down and long yardage. The quarterback rolls out to throw a long pass about taxes, but it's incomplete and Great Society may have to kick.

"It's time out on the field, and seated next to me is one of the great experts of the Credibility Bowl classic, Asa Bloknik. Asa, how does the game look to you?" "Well, Paul, these are two tough teams, and I think we're going to see quite a contest here. Great Society had many injuries last Novem- ber, if you recall, and I be- lieve we're seeing the results of it here tonight. I notice that Coach Johnson has de- cided not to try too many tricks, and he seems to be more interested in consolida- ing his gains rather than trying any new plays. I talked to him just before game time, and he told me his team was in the greatest shape he had ever seen it. He pointed out they had made more yardage in the last three years than any pre- vious coach had made in the last 20.

"But he said this year was the time for testing, and if he didn't get support from the fans, his past victories would have little meaning."

"Asa, where do you think Great Society is the weakest?" "I would say in the calling of the signals. The quarterback calls one play and then they run another. Also, if you re- call, a few years ago Coach Johnson said he was going to concentrate on a ground attack. But lately he's been taking more and more to the air, and his strategy doesn't seem to be producing any results. An- other thing that seems to be hurting Great Society is that many of the first stringers on the team are leaving or have left, and Coach Johnson is hav- ing trouble trying to fill the positions. He seems weak in reserves."

"What about the American Solons?"

"Well, you know they're al- ways playing to the grandstands, and it seems this is the first year they feel they have a chance of holding the Great Society team down."

"Thanks, Asa, and now let's go back to the playing field. While we were talking, folks, there was an announcement over the loudspeaker that de- fensive back Adam Clayton Powell has just been kicked off the field for clipping and will be benched by the Solons for the rest of the season."

"Describe the play! I'm a beer salesman. I can't tell foot- ball from field hockey."

"Beautifully put, Chuck, and I'm going to tell you something you better believe: Neither can I."

Schlesinger's Silly Book

WASHINGTON—An extreme- ly clever man, Arthur Schles- inger Jr., has just published an extremely silly book about Viet- nam. Not all the book's contents are all that silly, to be sure. Here and there, Schlesinger imitates the lady in the "Rosciad" who:

"N e' r e blushed u n l e s s, i n s p r e a d i n g v i c e' s s n a r e s, "She blundered on some v i r t u e u n a w a r e s."

"The Bitter Heritage" is a silly book, in fact, simply be- cause any bits of sense it may contain have been blundered upon unaware. In knowledge of Asia, Schlesinger compares with Prof. Hans J. Morgenthau — a far from flattering com- parison. He is no better off with respect to Vietnam, with which he had nothing whatever to do, by President Kennedy's own decision, during all his years in the White House.

Schlesinger's judgments on Vietnam are exclusively based upon secondary sources, many of them dubious and all of them examined in the light of Schles- inger's strong and uninformed preconceptions. A book with such credentials is no more than a piece of partisan pamphleteering, in this case deceptively dressed up as a serious intellectual production.

On the book itself, therefore, only one footnote is needed. As might be expected, since the same feature appears in his every one of the President's more articulate critics on Viet- nam comes from the second group.

Among the critics, the vast majority have never even set foot on Asian soil, except, per- haps, for a sojourn, short or long, in beloved India. The ques- tion, therefore, is whether these eminent and eloquent persons are not being a bit presumptu- ous, not to mention a bit pre- tentious, to advise the country so loudly and persistently on a subject about which they know so little.

Their ignorance is more than once unintentionally illustrated by Schlesinger, for example by an approvingly quoted state- ment of an especially eminent Johnson-critic: "There is not a single independent state... in Asia which follows our lead." The flat contrary happens to be the case.

The most left-wing and prob- ably the ablest independent Asian leader, Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore, publicly gives thanks for the U. S. effort in Vietnam in an admirable article by Robert Shaplen in this week's New Yorker.

To be sure, the leaders of beloved India have never been able to cure their propensity for pious public cant on Viet- nam or any other subject. But anyone who has done his home- work knows that in private even the Indian leaders largely share the view of Lee Kuan Yew, as do just about all the other leaders of independent Asia.

That is one-half of the ques- tion. The other half concerns the minority of the American intellectual community which really knows something about Asia. Here you discover the phenomenon that so sadly sur- prised Sen. J. William Ful- bright when, poorly informed as usual, he called for testimony before his committee from serious Asianists like John Fairbank of Harvard and Lucian Pye of MIT. He got what he did not want to hear and was pub- licly enraged.

The academic community would naturally be the most critical of President Johnson, and all the academic Asianists naturally criticize this or that detail of execution of the Pres- ident's policy. But the vastly more important fact remains that nine out of ten of the seri- ous Asian scholars in our uni- versities support both the prin- ciples and objectives of the President's policy, as Sen. Ful- bright discovered.

You might suppose that this fact would impress the Presi- dent's critics. You might even suppose that weight would also be given to the unanimous view of the quite outstanding corps of Asianists and Sinologists in the U. S. government. But you would be wrong. Ignorance, if not blissful, is at least com- placant and eternally articu- late.

adamant in their opposition came to know the bill in de- tail, understand it, and then recognize its workability and value to the Commonwealth as a whole.

And the same pattern applies to both unemployment compensa- tion reform and constitutional revision. Once the reasons for a program and its value are understood by the public, the Legislature, and the press, it can be done.

On the other hand, those de- cisions where an individual's rights are involved in contrast to a larger public need are the truly difficult decisions to make.

For example: The recent de- cision not to declare the vicini- ty of the Cedar Avenue mine fire in the City of Scranton a disaster area.

People had been forced to flee their homes because of the presence of carbon monoxide gas; but to approve an official disaster proclamation would have established a precedent in Federal or State governmental assistance interfering with that of private agencies.

Fortunately other ways were found to solve the problem. Not so, however, in many cases of taking private property for public use, such as the Middle Creek area of Lebanon and Lancaster Counties. Those are tough ones.

The second most-asked ques- tion is easier to answer. For, this Administration has pur- posely not tried for one out- standing program, better than any of the others; rather, we have emphasized over the past four years moving ahead in all the major fields in which State Government has been involved.

The result is that today, the single most important accom- plishment for Pennsylvania has been the complete change in the morale of the people them- selves. Because we have ad- vanced strongly in all those areas — in education, conser- vation, jobs and industrial de- velopment, public welfare, human services, mental health and mental retardation pro- grams, fiscal stability, civil rights and many more — Penn- sylvanians no longer face the future with despair.

Instead, today we are "proud to walk tall as Pennsylvanians."

DREW PEARSON

Progress Due To Exiles

(Editor's Note — In view of the forthcoming Summit Con- ference of Pan American pres- idents, Drew Pearson has taken a trip to South America. He reports today from the interior of Venezuela.)

CIUDAD BOLIVAR — Vene- zuela is a nation on the march. It is building a subway system, to be finished sooner than the Washington, D. C., subway. It is developing its vast interior. Its schools have tripled. Its death and disease rates are down.

Most of this march is due to the vibrant democracy now governing Venezuela, led by men who long lived in exile to escape dictatorship. s h i p s of Gomez and Perez Jimenez, and who are deter- mined to profit from their mis- takes.

Part is also due to a new partnership with American in- dustry and the fact that many Venezuelan leaders have studied in the United States. After some tragic U. S. errors, as when Eisenhower gave the Legion of Merit to Dictator Perez Jimenez, the United States has done its best to help and encourage Venezueladem- ocracy.

The man at the helm, Presi- dent Raul Leoni, is descended from a Corsican family and married the daughter of Gen- eral Fernandez, one of the mili- tary men who kept Dictator Gomez in power. Despite this, Leoni and his wife were mar- ried in Washington where he was exiled because of his opposition to the policies which his father- in-law supported. One daughter was born in Washington, two children in Costa Rica, and one in Bolivia, all while their father was in exile.

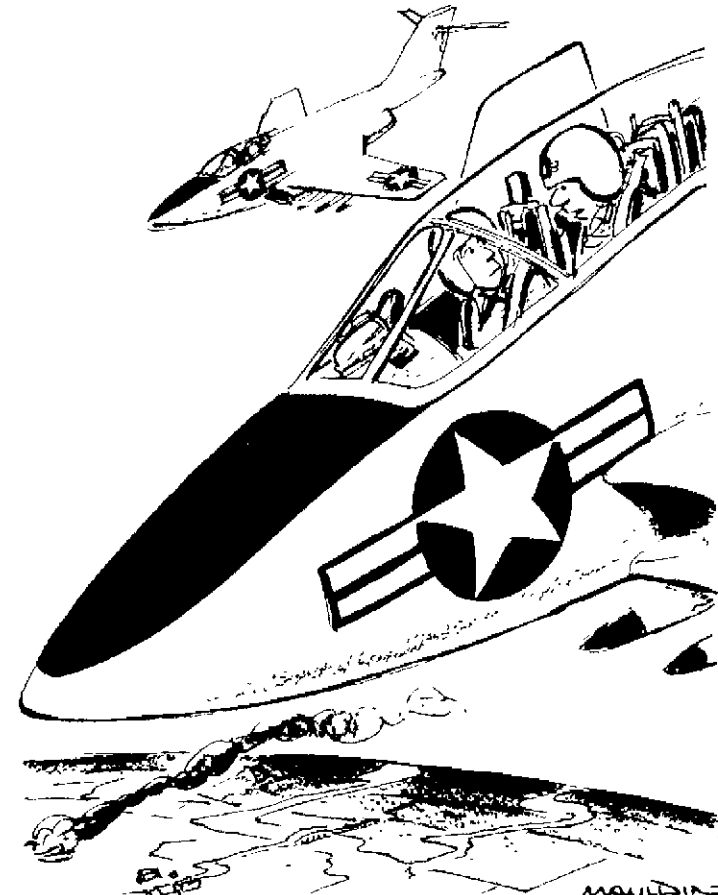

Gonzalo Barrios, former minister of the interior, now secretary general of the Action Democratic party, who will probably be the next president of Venezuela, also lived much of his life in exile; as did Leopoldo Suarez Figarella, the minister of public works, who is responsible for Venezuela's vast program of roads, through- ways, bridges and harbors.

Jose Gonzalez Lander, in charge of building the Caracas subway, studied at M.I.T. in Cambridge, Mass., and is work- ing with Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Quade and Douglas, experts on the San Francisco subway, and with Alan M. Voorhees & As- sociates, who are now planning the Washington subway.

Antonio Ledezma Lanz, in charge of Venezuela's ex- panding chemical industry, studied at the University of Michigan. This month he is signing contracts with Union Carbide and Allied Chemical to establish Venezuelan fac- tories to produce a wide range of chemical products, chiefly for export. The partnership with Union Carbide will give it 60 per cent ownership; the Ven- ezuelan Petro-Chemical Institute 40 per cent.

The Allied Chemical deal will be a fifty-fifty partnership.

A third partnership is being signed with Shell-Phillips to produce urea, plastics and syn- thetic rubber. Another part- nership, between Reynolds Metals and the Venezuelan govern- ment, has already started to produce sheet aluminum near the junction of the Caroni and Orinoco Rivers where a series of giant dams will generate more power than at Grand Coulee on the Columbia River.

Steele-ing The Sports Scene

Terrific, Tex!

Chalk one up for Tex Maule. Whether through prejudice for the NFL or foresight or an educated opinion or a lucky guess, old Tex was one of the few to predict a Green Bay runaway. Most of the scribes, including this wiser-but-richer writer, played it safe, calling for a close game but a Packer victory.

We were also wrong on: "The Chiefs will gain more yards rushing than the Packers." The Bays put Garrett, McClinton and Company to shame on the ground.

But we were right about a one-touchdown first quarter and the trailing team ("especially if its Kansas City") going for the bomb in the second period: the Dawson-to-Taylor aerial set up the Chiefs only score.

Our guess that "The scoring in the third quarter will tell the story was also correct, but we were whistling in the dark about a possible exciting final period.

We were, admittedly, extremely happy with the outcome. Prior to the Lombardi period at Green Bay, our allegiance lay with the Detroit Lions of the Doak Walker, Leon Hart era, but we admire Lombardi's fundamental brand of block-and-tackle football.

As a former interior lineman, we thrill to Green Bay's pulling guards clearing the way on the famous Packer sweep. In our opinion, Bart Starr has replaced John Unitas as pro football's premier quarterback and Zeke Bratkowski, not Gary Cuzzo or Darryl Lamonica, is the best number two QB in the game.

There were a few anxious moments in the first quarter, but the Lombardi genius solved the Kansas City defense (any time you do something radical, it's to cover up a weakness), and the last 30 minutes was all Green Bay.

We don't think Vince was kidding when he wisecracked that the turning point of the game was the touchdown called back; it proved that it was only a matter of time until the Packers broke it wide open.

Sticking to our pre-game statement, the game proved that Green Bay was better (25 points better) than Kansas City on that day. It was Lombardi that said the top teams in the NFL were superior to the Chiefs. Vince knows more about it.

CBS Over NBC

According to a television rating service, CBS — with Ray Scott, Jack Whitaker, Frank Gifford and Pat Summerall — had more viewers than the Curt Gowdy-Paul Crisman team on NBC. Our vote wouldn't count since we watched the first half from CBS, then switched over to NBC for the last two periods. The CBS colorcast, at least the one received here, had the advantage over NBC, but the latter had the best pre-game show.

In fact, Gowdy and Crisman emceed the finest preview show we've ever seen. With Viking coach Norm Van Brocklin, NFL players Unitas, and Don Meredith and AFL stars Lance Alworth, Jack Kemp and Johnny Sample on hand, it was informative and interesting.

The best quote of the afternoon, both from players, coaches and expert spectators, came from Unitas. In response to the question, "If you were running the Chiefs, what would you do against Green Bay?" Unitas remarked "Give up!"

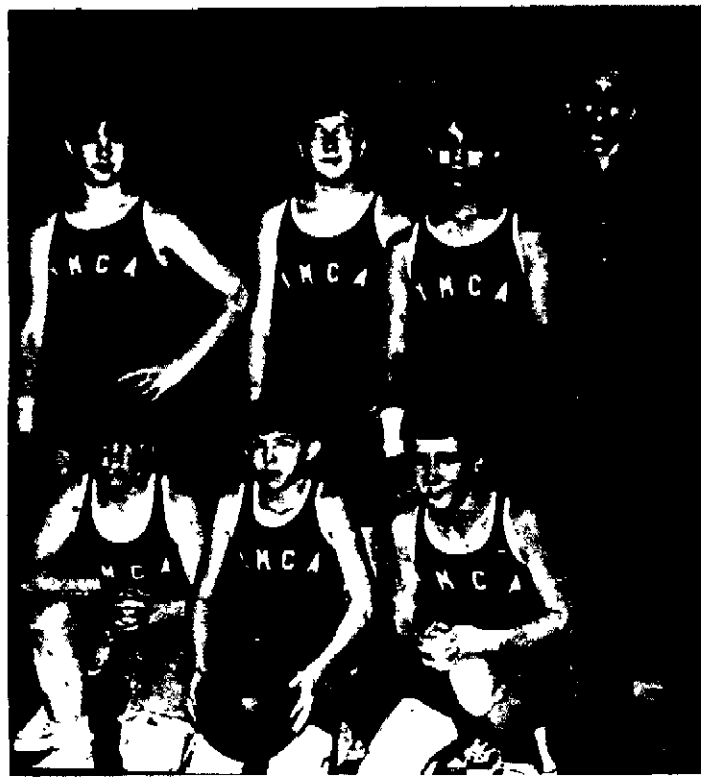

Kansas City coach Hank Stram's biggest contribution in a taped interview was, "It'll be nice to settle it."

How sweet it is!

Warren's Wrestlers Host Unbeaten Trojans Tonight

Warren's wrestling team takes a break from Section II competition tonight by hosting McDowell, but the match definitely can't be considered a "breather."

The Trojans, under former Clearfield all-state champ Ralph Clark, have compiled a 5-0 record this season, including romps over Erie Tech, Academy and North East. Last week, the Erie suburb school whipped Corry, 29-15, then slipped past Girard on Friday, 26-19.

Only three members of last season's Trojan team that lost a 27-15 decision to the Dragons return to face the Blue and White again: Bill Groner (103), Doug Engel (112) and Rod Irwin (133). In the '66 match, Groner drew with Dana Sorenson in the 95-pound bout, Engel was defeated by Fritz Shoup, 6-4 and Irwin lost to Harold Cummings, 8-1.

Tom Wheeler, McDowell's 95-pounder, is undefeated thus far as is Groner. Last season, Wheeler lost a 2-1 decision to Mark Williams of the Little Dragons in the junior varsity match.

There will be only one change in the Warren lineup. Senior Dave Stein topped Mike Malnes in eliminations this week and

DRAGONS IDLE; KNIGHTS, BULLDOGS IN ACTION

County Cage Headliners: Eagles Vs. Orioles, Sheffield vs. Rams

A top Allegheny Mountain League game and a good non-league clash highlight the county basketball action tonight.

Sheffield will try to get back on the winning trail as they host the tall Johnsonburg Rams. Youngsville will travel to Rocky Grove for a return match with Orioles in the top tilts.

Other games find Sparta at Tidoute and Eisenhower at East Forest in Upper Allegheny Valley League games.

The Warren Dragons will be idle until Friday when they host Titusville.

Coach Nick Creola's Wolves are on a three-game losing streak and he said that he hopes his team can "spring a surprise." Included in the three setbacks are league losses to Brockway and St. Marys. The other was a ten point decision to East Forest.

Creola will try to combat the height of the Rams by using a starting lineup made up of Ray

Morrison, Robbie Hart, Jeff Scalise, either Mike Steffan or Mark McGuire and a doubtful Wayne Swanson. The high-scoring junior has been sick the past few days and his condition for the game is uncertain.

Johnsonburg has three men in the starting five over six feet. They are high-scoring Wayne Brechtel, he stands 6-4, 6-2 Phil Bressler and 6-1 Walter Fitch. The other starters for the Rams will be Bernie Kanski, a 5-11 sophomore and either Bob Fiegal, 5-11 junior or Roy Wantuck, 5-11 senior.

In league play the Rams have won their only league game, a 69-61 victory over Ridgway.

Youngsville coach Paul Siegel said that his squad will have to play a controlled offense game in order to offset the run and shoot tactics of once beaten Rocky Grove.

Early in the season the Orioles won a 75-52 decision over the Eagles.

Coach Siegel stated that, despite a 4-8 record, his team is still giving 100 per cent, he said that before the season is over he hopes to knock off someone.

The Eagles will go with the same starting lineup they have used throughout most of the season. Starting will be Milt Johnson, Gary Carter, Ron Knapp, Bob Chisholm and Denny Walton.

In the first encounter the shooting of backcourtors Johnson and Walton kept the Eagles in the game for three quarters. Johnson tallied 15 and Walton connected for 16. Carter had nine and Knapp and Chisholm each had six for the Eagles.

Rocky Grove will use a starting five composed of Dave McClintock, Jim Jennings, Tony Noif, Joe Acker and John Boughner. Acker has been the consistent high scorer hitting for an average of about 25 a game. As a team the Orioles are 11-1 and are averaging near 80 points per outing.

Tidoute will have its hands full with the strong offense of Spartansburg. Coach Jim Boudamer still contends that the Bulldogs won't finish last and they will have a golden opportunity to get out of the cellar with a win over the Spartans.

Starting for the Bulldogs, 1-0, will be Harry Hopkins, Bob Bosko, Bill Brown, Ed Ziegler and Scott McKay. Bosko and Ziegler are both averaging near 11 points a game while Brown is slightly under 10 per outing.

Sparta, 2-0 in the league, centers its offense around hot-shooting Bob Troyer. He has been hitting about 20 a game for the Spartans. Other starters will be Don Minnick, Bruce Allen, Hal Tubbs and Elden Miller.

The Spartans came back in the final minutes last Tuesday to edge Youngsville by three, 62-59. They had a big lead but Youngsville came back in the final half and took a slight lead but Sparta bounced back to gain the win.

Eisenhower will have to beat its best to give the defending league champions a good battle. East Forest is currently 1-0 in the UAFL.

The Knights are 1-1 in the league. Their starting lineup will be made up of Bob Burlingame, Dave Van Cise, Bill McFarland, Gary Fry and Barton Lohnes.

East Forest relies on the sharpshooting of Pat McClellan for most of its offense. The rest of the starting lineup will be made up of Bill Renton, Rick Anders, Dan Motter and Tom Glenn.

Boosters Meet Tomorrow Nite

The Warren Sports Boosters will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria.

Cage coach Joe Shantz and mat mentor Mike Weber will be on hand to show films of some of this winter's action. All Booster members are urged to attend and all other interested persons are invited to attend. The club directors will meet immediately following the program.

Havlicek Named New Captain of Celtics

BOSTON (AP) — John Havlicek, generally rated the best sixth man in the National Basketball Association, was named captain of the Boston Celtics yesterday in a surprise move by player-coach Bill Russell.

Havlicek, a former Ohio State star who has come off the bench either as a forward or guard to help the Celtics to NBA titles the past four years, was picked over such other standout veterans as K.C. Jones, Sam Jones,

Tom Sanders and Larry Siegfried.

"He deserves it," Russell said, "it will give him even more chance to show his leadership abilities. I expect him to do a lot, including yelling at the referees. Havlicek plays about as much as I do, and I see no reason to keep both the job of captain and coach any longer."

Russell disclosed his selection to basketball writers but withheld the information from Havlicek until after the Celtics left by plane for Chicago and a Tuesday night game with the Bulls.

The Celtics, bidding for an eighth straight NBA title, trail Philadelphia by 9½ games in the Eastern Division race after dropping a 110-95 decision to the 76ers Sunday.

However, Russell remained confident in his first season as player-coach.

"We will beat Philadelphia in the regular season," he said. "They are not too far ahead to overtake. We will go on from there to win another world championship."

Kane Frosh Hand Beaty Fourth Loss

KANE — Beaty Junior High School, plagued by foul problems, blew an early lead and dropped a 49-39 decision to Kane JH here yesterday.

Beaty, now 5-4, had a 10-7 lead after one period but trailed at the intermission by a 26-20 count. After three periods the Little Wolves had increased their lead to 42-32. Each team scored seven in the final period.

Two of the locals fouled out and two more finished the game with four fouls. Jim Monaghan and Mark Dahler, who scored 12 and seven respectively, took early showers. The team's leading scorer, Eddie O'Neill ended the contest with four fouls as did Pat Murphy. O'Neill ended the game with 12 points.

Three of the hosts hit double figures. Carlson scored 18 while Jones added 10 and Kusor tallied 10.

Beaty outscored Kane from the field hitting on 18 to 17 for the hosts. From the foul lines Beaty tallied only five points to 13 for Kane.

Next game for the Blue and Gold will be tomorrow when they host Youngsville.

LaRusso, Scott And Counts in 3-Team Trades

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets announced yesterday they had obtained Ray Scott from the Detroit Pistons in a three-cornered trade which also involved the Los Angeles Lakers.

In the deal, Mel Counts of Baltimore was sent to the Lakers and the Pistons received Rudy LaRusso from Los Angeles.

Baltimore, with a 9-38 record in the National Basketball Association, had been looking for rebound strength. Scott, 6-foot-9 ranked second on the Pistons with 404 rebounds, an average of nine per game. His scoring average with the Pistons was 14.7.

LaRusso was averaging 13.6 points per game with the Lakers. Counts, a 7-footer, was used sparingly by the Bullets after being obtained in a trade with the Boston Celtics for All-Star Bailey Howell and had averaged 6.4 points per game.

Eisenhower JH Dropped 60-26 By Little Bears

UNION CITY — The Eisenhower Junior High School cagers traveled here yesterday and were won by the Bear Cubs by a 60-26 score.

Union City jumped to a quick 22-5 margin after one period. The Knights managed to close the gap by one at the half 32-16. In the third period Union City threw up a tough defense that permitted the Little Knights only one point. They scored 21 themselves.

High scorer for the Knights was Jamie Nesmith with nine.

Leading the winners was Harvey Clough with 19.

Next game for the Eisenhower JH will be Wednesday at Sparta. The Little Knights, under coach Tom Swift, are now 3-5.

Home St. Romps In Gra-Y Game

Home Street shutout Irvindale in the first half yesterday then went on to romp over the hilltoppers, 33-6 in a Gray-Y League game yesterday.

Don Mervine's charges held a 17-0 edge at intermission and outscored Irvindale in both the third and fourth quarters to post the victory.

Don Trubie led the winners with 11 points, Glenn Belleau had 10 and Dave Mervine hooped six. P. Nuhfer's three points was high for the losers and D. Tanner added two.

LOMBARDI HAS PERSUASIVE WAY WITH VETERANS

Retirement Talk Heavy At Green Bay, But Don't Make Book on It

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, each with $23,500 extra money to tide them through the long, cold winter, were busy taking bows yesterday after squelching the American Football League in the first Super Bowl. Eight Packers will play in Sunday's Pro Bowl but the others were scattering.

There was doubt about the future of vets like Fuzzy Thurston, Max McGee, Jim Taylor, Paul Hornung and Jerry Kramer but many a projected retirement ends when the next football season rolls around.

"As far as I know, nobody is retiring," said coach Vince Lombardi. "I read where McGee said he was quitting and I also read where he said he'd probably play if I asked him."

GO KING EDWARD
America's Largest Selling Cigar

McGee, used only sparingly during the regular season when he caught but four passes, nabbed seven Sunday in the Packers' 35-10 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs, AFL champs. Then he announced he was retiring.

Thurston, the veteran guard who has been an important factor in keeping pass rushers off the back of quarterback Bart Starr, has restaurant holdings in the Green Bay area and may decide to devote all his time to that job.

Kramer, Fuzzy's partner as a pulling guard in the Packers' offensive line, has business interests in Louisiana.

Taylor played out his option with the Packers this year and never did sign a contract. He is due to huddle with Lombardi soon in Green Bay to discuss his future. There have been reports that the driving fullback would welcome a move, with New Orleans due to operate as the 15th NFL franchise this fall. However, nothing has been determined as yet on Taylor's future status.

Hornung never got in the ball game Sunday. The former Golden Boy from Notre Dame has been bothered by a pinched nerve in his neck that has resulted in a weakness in his left arm. Paul is getting married Wednesday.

"I'm going to wait and see what happens to the arm," said Hornung. "I'll wait on the doctor. I should know something along about March."

Lombardi gave the disappointing crowd of 63,036 a preview of the future in the final minutes of the game after his Packers had swarmed over Len

Dawson, forcing him into a key interception by Willie Wood, that wrapped up the ball game. Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, the two bonus rookies who cost the Packers close to $1 million a year ago, were turned loose as the running backs. Gale Gillingham, an expensive rookie guard from Minnesota, moved into Thurston's place at guard.

Bob Brown, a 6-foot-7, 265-pounder from Los Angeles State, is about ready to move into a starting job on the defensive line whenever Henry Jordan is ready to call it a career.

Although changes in future draft procedure probably will hurt the Packers more than other clubs and will make it more difficult for Lombardi to build a stockpile of new talent, most NFL observers are sure that Vincent will find a way.

As for the Super Bowl itself, there were indications that it might not be played in Los Angeles next year. Reaction to the local television blackout and resistance to the scale of ticket prices hurt the gate. Instead of a sellout of 93,000 they had to settle for about two-thirds capacity.

"My personal sentiment is for a warm weather site for this game," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle. "Perhaps it would be Los Angeles, perhaps some other city. It might be healthy to move it around. We will pick the site of our next game by Spring and will have more time to sell tickets and make other arrangements."

The first Super Bowl site and date did not become definite until December because of a hassle over the television rights. Two networks finally shared the first game with an agreement to alternate in the next three years, CBS in 1968 and 1970, NBC in 1969. The price this year was $2 million. In the future it will be $2.5 million.

"We will play a world championship game, or Super Bowl, through 1970," said Rozelle. "After that we may have a complete realignment of the two leagues after they merge in 1970. That could change the format of several of our post-season games."

Rozelle was asked to comment on the differences between the Packers and Chiefs in the first test of strength between the two leagues.

"Kansas City had some fine football players," he said. "We knew they had some high quality men because they were scouted by NFL teams, too. Their first four forced Green Bay to run outside and throw the ball."

"On this day, Green Bay was the better football club, and very likely on other days, too. But Kansas City is a good club."

The consensus among pro football personnel seemed to be that the Chiefs did a fine job in the first half when they trailed only 14-10. But the Packers' rush and the blitz that led to Wood's interception exposed a fatal weakness in the Chiefs. After the interception, Dawson lost his poise.

"It looked to me as though the Packers had been looking at the wrong movies of Kansas City," said one NFL coach. "Maybe they expected Kansas City would be so easy they could just blow them down. When they finally decided to play football in the second half it was no contest."

Bart Starr was supposed to be the difference. He was. The Packers were supposed to be murder if you made a mistake. They were. Kansas City's corner backs were supposed to be vulnerable. They were. Green Bay was supposed to win by at least two touchdowns. They won by 25 points.

It was a formal weekend in Los Angeles. Buckpasser did it again. UCLA rolled on and Lew Alcindor scored a hatful of points. And the NFL beat the AFL. A chalk player could have made a fortune.

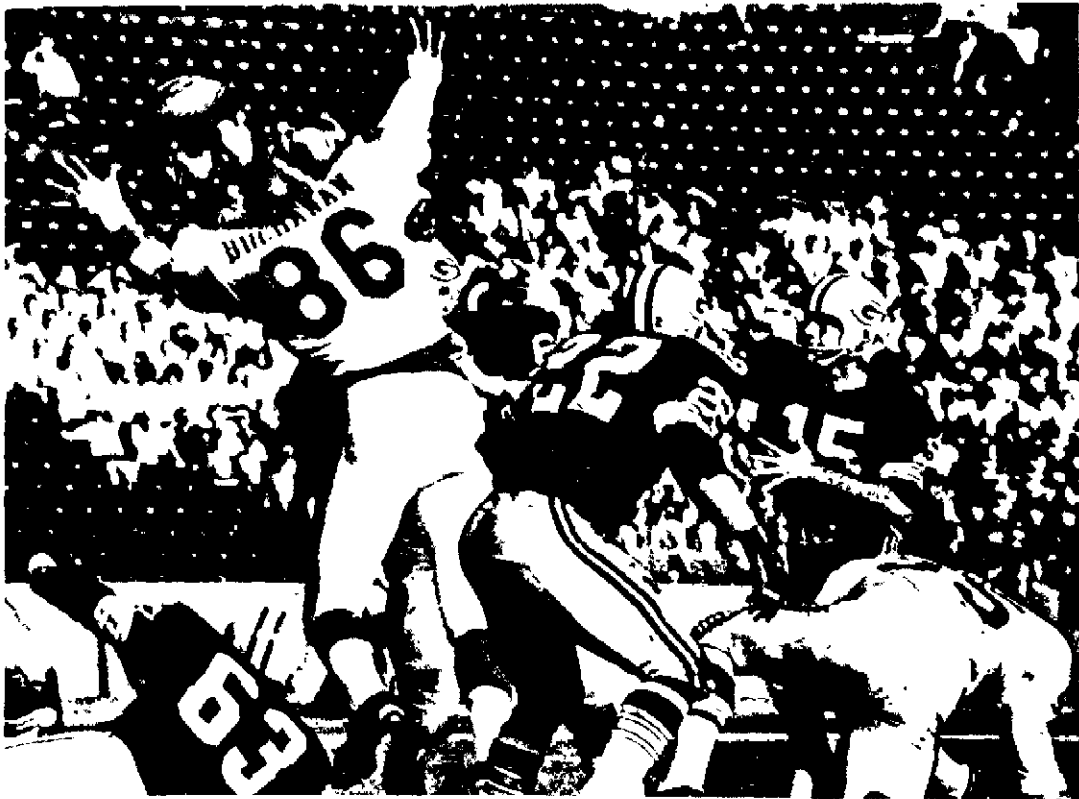

Starr Gets Pro Of Month Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Bart Starr, the quarterback of the champion Green Bay Packers, was a runaway victor of the December award in the S. Rae Hickok Pro Athlete of the Year poll.

Points were awarded on a basis of three for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Miss Whitworth won nine official tournaments in 1966; one more than in 1965 when she also was named the female athlete of the year. Among her triumphs last season were those in the Lady Carling Open at Sutton, Mass., another Lady Carling Open at Ellicott, Tenn., The Titleholders Championship at Augusta, Ga., and the Milwaukee Jaycee Open.

Kathy Whitworth Elected Top Gal Athlete of Year

By BEN OLAN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Kathy Whitworth, the 27-year-old queen of professional golf, was the outstanding female athlete for the second consecutive year in 1966, scoring a runaway victory yesterday in the annual Associated Press poll.

The small town girl from Jal, N.M., drew 185 first-place votes and 729 points in the balloting by 428 sports writers and radio and television broadcasters.

Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the Wimbledon singles tennis champion, was a distant second with 521 points and 88 first-place votes. Brazil's Mario Bueno, the U.S. national tennis titleholder, placed third with 293 points and 36 votes for the top position.

Points were awarded on a basis of three for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Miss Whitworth won nine official tournaments in 1966; one more than in 1965 when she also was named the female athlete of the year. Among her triumphs last season were those in the Lady Carling Open at Sutton, Mass., another Lady Carling Open at Ellicott, Tenn., The Titleholders Championship at Augusta, Ga., and the Milwaukee Jaycee Open.

The 5-foot-9, long ball hitter, who started on the pro tour in 1959, was named the player of the year by the Ladies Professional Golf Association after successfully defending her money-winning crown by earning a record $33,511.50.

Miss Whitworth, the daughter of a hardware store owner, also was successful in defending the LPGA's Vare Trophy for the lowest scoring average on the pro tour. She competed in 101 official rounds with a scoring average of 72.81 strokes a round.

Kathy never scored over 80 and was in the 60s on 13 occasions. She established an LPGA record by shooting rounds of 68-71-69-65 for 273 in the Milwaukee tourney.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will present the award to Miss Whitworth on Feb. 11 in San Francisco.

Mrs. King brought the women's Wimbledon crown back to America after four years by defeating Miss Bueno 6-3, 6-1 in the final match. The 22-year-old Californian also helped the United States win the Wightman Cup by defeating Ann Jones of Britain in a pivotal match.

Later, Mrs. King was ranked the nation's No. 1 woman's tennis player by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association. She shared top ranking with Nancy Richey of Dallas in 1965.

Miss Bueno downed Miss Richey 6-3, 6-1 in winning the U.S. championship at Forest Hills, N.Y., for the fourth time.

Claudia Kolb, who set a world record of 2 minute, 28 seconds in the women's 200-meter individual swimming medley, was fourth in the voting. Then came Irena Kirzenstein, Polish track star, and golfer Mickey Wright, who was named the female athlete of the year in 1963 and 1964.

Others who won the award in successive years were Babe Drikson Zaharias and Maureen Connolly. Each won it three times in a row.

The top ten, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on a 3-2-1 basis:

1. K. Whitworth, golf (185) 729
2. B. J. King, tennis (88) 521
3. M. Bueno, tennis (36) 293
4. C. Kolb, swimming (11) 172
5. I. Kirzenstein, track (10) 68
6. M. Wright, golf (7) 39
7. N. Richey, tennis (4) 35
8. P. Fleming, fig skat (7) 31
9. C. Cook, track (6) 25
10. M. Mulder, track (2) 11

Sports of The Times Arthur Daley Did It Prove Anything?

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
LOS ANGELES — The American Football League almost came of age in the Super Bowl yesterday. If it didn't quite attain full maturity, it made sufficient advances to start shaving. The Kansas City Chiefs demonstrated that they can't easily be cuffed aside by their elders in the National Football League.

The bearded wonders from K.C. put up a valiant fight against the stubble-chinned veterans from Green Bay in this first championship match between the two leagues. For two periods the Chiefs almost held their own against the far more experienced Packers, trailing only 14-10 at the half.

But then the Packers asserted full supremacy and won the second half 21 to 0, for an overall final result of 35-10. However, neither the Chiefs nor the AFL was disgraced and it was a good show that followed the script with an uncanny exactitude. Green Bay was supposed to win authoritatively. It did.

Yet more than one NFL brower worried frown at the half-time intermission, the Chiefs had so much sparkle and dash. Lenny Dawson was a magician at quarterback with his ball-handling prestidigitation and the Packers were frequently chasing phantoms. Green Bay was dull and stoggy with a caution that was out of character.

But once Willie Wood returned an intercepted pass 50 yards to the goal-mouth early in the third quarter, the Packers came alive. From that moment on, it was evident that Green Bay not only would win, but win big. The Vince Lombardi club obeyed his halftime exhortation to "get aggressive." They tore Kansas City apart with venomous ruthlessness.

"We mangled 'em a little bit," said Jim Taylor, the rip-snorting fullback. No one described it better.

"The interception seemed to unnerve the entire Kansas City team," said Webb Ewbank of the Jets, sadness in his voice. "But the Packers are a good football team. No question about it."

"The Packers didn't play at all in the first half," said Norm Van Brocklin of the Vikings, "but they really came on like gangbusters in the second half."

There was practically no pressure applied to Dawson in the first two quarters but after that he was coming Packers out of his curly hair. Once Green Bay took charge, there was little he could do. They shut down on his passing.

"We weren't moving in the first half," explained Wood, the interceptor. "We played a moving defense and we weren't moving at all."

Long before this game ever was played both sides piously stated that one game proved nothing. Maybe it doesn't. But an awful lot of significant facts still persisted in emerging.

Playing badly in the first half while the Chiefs were at their peak, the Packers still contrived to stay out in front, mainly because Bart Starr has now established himself as the greatest quarterback in the sport. As a result, the Super Bowl made its debut with a super-quarterback, one destined to take rank with the Sammy Baughs and the other immortals.

When the Bays finally played the second half in the second half they exposed the Chiefs as a team definitely not in their class. Unfortunately for the AFL this has to reflect on the calibre of play in the league. Kansas City was far and away the best team in that league.

However, the same margin of superiority over the others does not hold true for the Packers. They won the championship but not easily. Several NFL clubs were almost on a par with them and several others were only a shade below. Lombardi tried earnestly to avoid saying as much but persistent inquisitors finally drew from him a reluctant admission.

"I don't think they are as good as the top teams in our league," he said.

Most grandstand quarterbacks agree with him. Hence the weight of evidence would seem to indicate that this game which was supposed to prove nothing proved something after all.

The elderly Packers never panicked when the kids from Kansas City gave them fits in the first half. They made slight readjustments in their techniques for the second half, sprinkling them with a heavy dose of aggressiveness and won going away.

Lombardi even used his junior varsity in the closing minutes. One was Donny Anderson, the $600,000 bonus beauty, who will someday be a superstar. He ran over Fred Williamson, the boastful showboat in the Chief secondary, and knocked him so cold that it took a stretcher to cart off the body.

"I guess Anderson must've hit him with his wallet," commented the merry Fuzzy Thurston, a Packer who knows a loaded object when he sees one.

CBS Outdrew Rival In 'Super' Coverage

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Research Bureau, sampling the television audience of the Super Bowl football game, estimated yesterday that it attracted around 45 million viewers, a record for a sports event.

The ARB report, based on telephone calls throughout the nation to approximately 1,350 homes, picked at random from directories, indicated that CBS had the largest number of viewers Sunday, with a rating of 24.8 to NBC's 17.4.

The statistics are considered, within the industry, to be preliminary, pending the release in two weeks of the Nielsen Nielsen ratings, the unofficial but primary yardstick used by the networks to measure audiences. There is often considerable difference between the two.

NBC, by enormous promotion and advertising, had hoped to top the CBS audience. Both networks used the same basic camera facilities to report the game, a pool operation by CBS.

The size of the audience for the football game is indicated by the fact that the usual rating for a CBS broadcast of an NFL game was around 15, while NBC's AFL broadcasts averaged around 8.

Ron Hansen OK, Signs Sox Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox received yesterday the signed contract of Ron Hansen together with the assurance that the shortstop has completely recovered from a back ailment which sidelined him most of the 1966 season.

Hansen underwent surgery in a Baltimore hospital last May for a ruptured spinal disc. He did not play again until November, in the Winter Instructional League in Florida.

Dr. James Arnold, Hansen's surgeon, told Ed Short, White Sox general manager, he had examined Hansen and found him fit for spring training.

Short said the return of Hansen will enable Manager Eddie Stanky to shift Jerry Adair to second base, his normal position.

Hansen, one of the best clutch hitters among the Sox, appeared in only 23 games last year. He had batted in more than 60 runs in each of the three preceding seasons.

Williamson Got Hammer Instead

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Fred Williamson, Kansas City Chiefs corner back knocked out in Sunday's Super Bowl game, was pronounced in fine condition today by his coach.

Williamson, known as "The Hammer," was knocked out only three or four minutes left in the game as he tried a diving tackle of Jim Taylor, the Green Bay Packers' hard-running fullback.

Television viewers across the nation saw the incident and Williamson being carried from the field.

Coach Hank Stram said of Williamson today: "He's fine. He was knocked out, all right, but was just a little woozy for a while. It wasn't necessary to take him to a hospital. He'll return with us this afternoon."

"I guess I was knocked out," Williamson said, with a grin, after the mishap. "I don't remember a thing. Did I make the tackle?"

Stram said Williamson "got his share of the tackle."

Cornell's Offensive Line Coach Resigns

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Charles Gottfried resigned as associate offensive football coach at Cornell yesterday.

Gottfried, who played on Illinois' 1947 Rose Bowl team, has coached at Cornell for five years. Before that he was line coach at Army for five years. Gottfried said he is looking for a job outside football.

Market Registers First 1967 Losses

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — Stock prices advanced slightly yesterday in a session marked by heavy cross-currents of buying and selling.

Price advances on the New York Stock Exchange outnumbered declines by 673 to 566. Leading market indicators, however, finished with slight losses, their first setbacks of 1967.

Trading volume on the big board was 10,28-million shares, compared with 10-million on Friday.

New highs for 1966-67 rose to 53 from 47 on Friday. Crown Cork & Seal registered the only new low of the day.

The Dow-Jones Industrial Average closed at 833.23, down 1.89 points. The New York Stock Exchange composite index eased 0.08 point, to 45.96, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dipped 0.22 point, to 84.31. The New York Times combined average declined 0.28 point, to 474.71.

McDonnell Company and Douglas Aircraft climbed to the top of the most-active list on a flood of orders that resulted from the announcement last Friday night that the two companies plan to merge.

McDonnell, the most active stock, closed at 33 1/2, down 5/8, on 258,000 shares. Douglas, second most active, closed at 50 1/2, up 3/4.

Reichhold Chemicals, third most active, closed at 16 1/2, up 4 points.

Commercial Solvents rose 2 1/2 to 42 1/2.

International Business Machines was the major casualty of the day, tumbling 12 points to 384 1/2.

Ling-Temco-Vought scored a new high at 97 1/2 and closed at 97 1/2, up 4 1/2.

Helene Curtis, the cosmetics company, was fourth most active and closed at 10 1/2, down 1 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange most prices registered.

New Castle Mayor Heads State GOP

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI
HARRISBURG (AP) — John C. Jordan, 36-year-old mayor of New Castle, was elected by acclamation yesterday as the new chairman of the Republican State Committee as a prelude to Tuesday's inauguration of the GOP Shafer Administration.

Jordan, a trim, crew-cut father of four, was the personal choice of Gov., elect Raymond P. Shafer, to succeed retiring Craig Truax, 38, who will join the Shafer cabinet as Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Jordan was the only non-nominated for the office.

The chairmanship pays approximately $20,000 annually. Jordan said he would resign his $6,000 mayoralty "shortly."

The office is up for election in November.

The meeting marked the initial events in the official changing of the guard as the

SUPREME COURT RULES

Admissions Under Threat Can't Lead to Dismissal

By BARRY SCWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — States may not prosecute policemen for official wrongdoing on the basis of confessions given "under threat of removal from office," the Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

And lawyers may not be barred for refusing, on Fifth Amendment grounds, to testify during official investigations into their ethics, the high court held.

The decisions, both by 5-4 votes, further bind the states to respect the privilege against self-incrimination provided by the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Dissenting justices objected that the rulings will make it more difficult for the states to maintain the integrity of local police forces and of lawyers in private practice.

Justice William O. Douglas gave the majority opinion in the

Pittsburghers Protest Cut in Poverty Funds

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Hundreds of persons protested cuts in federal funds for community action programs yesterday in an orderly demonstration timed to coincide with Pittsburgh's evening rush hour.

A sign-carrying, singing throng gathered for about an hour on a grassy strip in the city's Gateway Center.

About 200 persons marched to the rally from the North Side and the Hill District, but police reported traffic flowed smoothly along the march route and in downtown Pittsburgh.

The action protested recent cuts of about $2 million in anti-poverty funds available for Pittsburgh after Congress appropriated anti-poverty funds for next year.

More than 30 anti-poverty groups sponsored the protest, along with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Urban League and the United Steelworkers Union.

Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr, Allegheny County Commissioner William D. McClelland and the Most Rev. John Wright, bishop of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic Diocese, attended the rally.

The audience hopped from one foot to another to keep warm in the 25-degree cold while a series of speakers called over loud-speakers for the government to restore poverty funds.

"We will fight any effort to cut funds needed to fight this

Scranton Dedicates Building

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton, in one of his last official functions before leaving office, dedicated the state's new Highway and Safety Building at noon yesterday.

Scranton and Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, his successor, were in high spirits and exchanged quips as they walked in from the sunny, chill air.

Assisted by Henry D. Harrel, highways secretary, and Robert G. Bartlett, who will succeed him, Scranton and Shafer lifted a saw horse bearing two blue ribbons in dedication of the building.

The $16.5 million structure, which took 2½ years to build, will house the departments of Highways, State Police, Revenue and Internal Affairs.

It will also contain the bureaus of Traffic Safety, Motor Vehicles, and Weights and Measures, and the State Council of Civil Defense.

Scranton likened the building to the incoming Shafer Administration.

"This building, in its present condition, indicates everything that can be done in Pennsylvania. It isn't useful yet, but will be."

leadership is passed from Gov. Scranton and his administration to Shafer and his official family.

The meeting was a gay one, despite the occasional signs of emotion that was attached to the change in the state committee command. Compliments flowed like wine at a wedding.

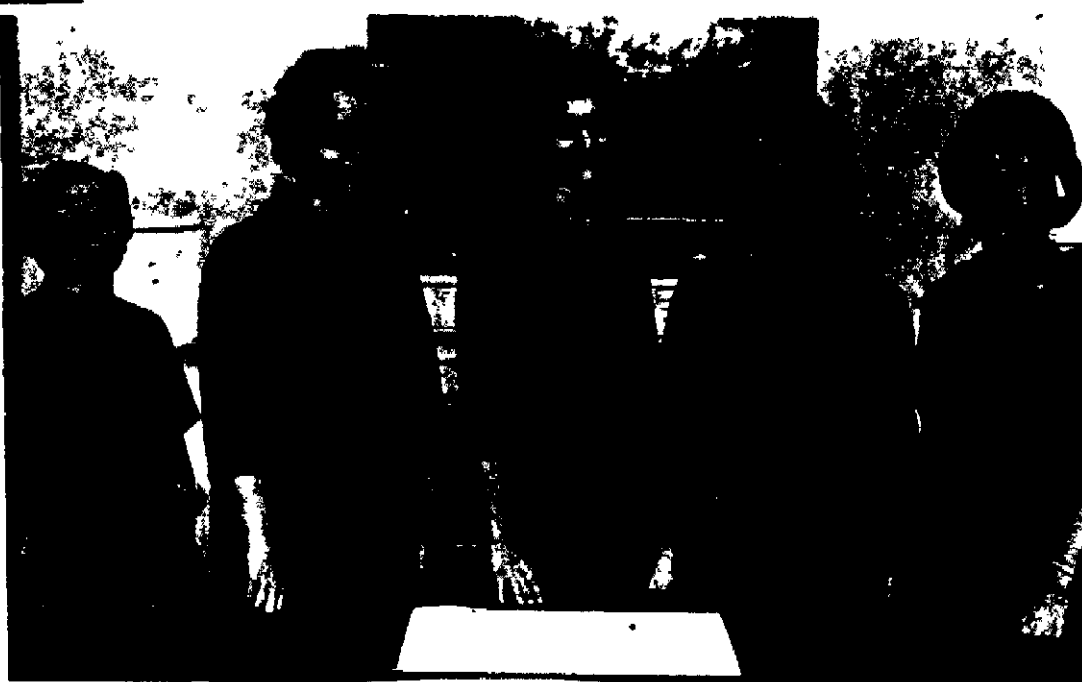

U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott called Scranton "the most popular man, the most beloved man in Pennsylvania."

Scranton said Shafer would prove to be "the greatest governor we've ever had."

Shafer called Truax "the most dedicated chairman" the party had ever had.

Jordan called Scott a "wonderful, wonderful man, a wonderful, wonderful friend."

Everyone called the Republican Party in Pennsylvania a "united party that works together."

NEW YWCA BOARD MEMBERS NAMED

China Asks 'Strayed Leaders' To Repent, Join Revolution

By MARK KURAMITSU
TOKYO (AP) — Radio Peking called last night on "strayed leaders" to repent and "join the burning force of the great cultural revolution." It admitted there was "a handful" of forces opposed to Mao Tse-tung in Communist party and military circles.

"The Chinese Communist party Central Committee calls on leaders who made general mistakes and those who made major mistakes but are not anti-socialist to immediately correct their mistakes," said the broadcast, quoting an editorial in the ideological journal Red Flag.

The editorial was aimed at followers of President Liu Shao-chi, the chief target of the purge. It apparently did not cover Liu himself, since he has been denounced as bourgeois-or anti-socialist.

The Hong Kong Evening Post, quoting diplomatic sources in Peking, said Liu had left the Chinese capital with several trusted friends and gone to Shihchiachuan, a railway center 160 miles to the southwest.

The paper described Shihchiachuan as a Liu stronghold where he has widespread support from factory workers. The paper added that he was "ready for an all-out attack against Mao Tse-tung."

Only Sunday, Red Flag accused Liu of forming a private army but said the 2.5 million-man Red Chinese army is loyal to Mao.

Radio Moscow, in a Japanese language broadcast, asserted resistance to Mao's cultural revolution was picking up force among peasants and workers throughout the mainland.

SHARON—The Grato Colloids Corp., one of the area's first graphite plants, has changed ownership. The plant located at 310 Wilkes Way, has been sold by Edward A. Wilson, its founder, to Kolchem, Inc., owned by Emilion businessmen. It will remain in Sharon and become a part of the new owners' operations.

Palomares Again Beseiged By Stroke of Bad Fortune

MADRID — The village of Palomares in southeastern Spain—where the United States lost four unarmed hydrogen bombs in an aerial collision a year ago today—has now been hit by a sudden frost that may have destroyed one-half of its current tomato crop.

The ruinous frost came on the night of Jan. 6, the feast of the "Three Kings," which is Spain's Christmas, as many of the more than 800 inhabitants of Palomares prepared in various ways to commemorate the first anniversary of the nuclear accident.

Those who had shared the U.S. damage claim payments, a total of $538,104, had been looking forward to a more prosperous year in 1967, as tomato prices doubled. The village had some new buildings, new vehicles and more farm animals.

Those who felt their claims were unjustly rejected, or who were generally dissatisfied with the way the U.S. was handling the aftermath of the accident, were readying themselves for a trip to Madrid to deliver a protest at the American embassy on anniversary day, today.

The bus expedition by some 40 persons, to demand $2.5 million in additional American compensation, seemed to have failed to materialize yesterday when Spanish authorities reported that the organizers were unable to hire a vehicle.

The frost that hit the area, just as the first tomato crop in Palomares after the loss of the bombs and the radioactive contamination of the village was to be picked, had a stunning effect on the people.

"Palomares seems accursed by bad luck," Mayor Manuel Gonzales Fernandez said. "A year ago it was the Americans' bombs, this year it is the frost."

Tomatoes are the principal source of revenue for Palomares. Before the bombs fell a year ago, the going price for tomatoes in the fields was 6 pesetas a kilogram, which works out to the equivalent of slightly less than 5 cents a pound. Because the crop was lost to the villagers due to radioactive contamination, the U.S. paid for it in full.

This year, the first tomatoes were fetching up to 11 pesetas a kilo, or nearly 10 cents a pound. But the frost destroyed between 40 and 50 per cent of the crop. The price for marketable tomatoes dropped yesterday to 4 to 5 pesetas a kilogram—around 4 cents a pound—because buyers suspected the surviving fruit may be damaged, too.

Many bomb damage claims were rejected because damage could not be proved. An example was the case of a villager who insisted his suit had "melted away" the day of the accident.

American officials contended that most of the people accepted the claims policy, except for a "hard core" of "discontents."

Another Spanish claimant is Francisco Simo Orts, the Villarcos fisherman who says he located the missing bomb for the U.S. Navy. The Navy does not agree with his claim.

Simo, who flew to the U.S. yesterday for a two-week visit is demanding a $5-million payment. His lawyers are preparing to sue the U.S. government for that amount.

American officials reported that Simo has already collected damages for tearing his nets while lifting aircraft debris from the Mediterranean, for lost fishing days and for general help.

Last Saturday Simo was awarded the Falange's Imperial Order of the Yoke and the Arrows by minister of the national movement, Jose Solis Ruiz. The minister said the award was being made in the name of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Israel Agrees to Meet With Syria About Clashes

BY JAMES FERON
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
JERUSALEM (Israel)—Israel agreed yesterday to a meeting with Syrian officials proposed Sunday by United Nations Secretary General Thant but warned that it had "reached a limit" over continuing border harassment.

The Israeli agreement was conveyed to Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N. truce supervisory organization, who left within hours for Damascus. The Israeli warning was issued by foreign minister Abba Eban.

Eban told newsmen the Israeli view was that the roots of the border problem did not lie "in any juridical controversy about cultivation" as suggested by U Thant.

The foreign minister reviewed the last two weeks of mining incidents and border shooting and said that cultivation disputes in demilitarized zones played only a relatively small part in the rising tensions.

"Now the policy of the Israeli government is that these acts have got to stop," Eban said. "We want Syria and the world to understand that we have reached a limit."

"The position is that we have the strength and the will to express our refusal to acquiesce in these policies," Eban said. "We cannot put up with anything more of this kind."

Eban's firm statement followed a warning by Thant that the military build-up on both sides of the Syrian border could lead to a serious clash, Western governments, especially the United States, have appealed to Israel not to resort to the kind of major retaliation it has used in the past.

Premier Levi Eshkol said in an interview that Israel had been exercising restraint but that there is a limit to all kinds of patience.

"We close an eye to a border incident, then close it again and then again," Eshkol said. "But how long must we do this?"

Butler Plans For 20-Year Development

BUTLER — A master plan calling for the development of a neighborhood playground system and a system of arterial roads has been accepted by City Council.

Put together by the Pittsburgh Regional Planning Association, it is a 20-year recommendation divided into two stages—one, a five-year plan on a year-by-year basis through 1971; and the other, the 15 following years with no annual schedule proposed.

Planners would purchase eight neighborhood parks within five years. A plan to revamp the city street system and construct an arterial highway system is also recommended, probably over a later five-year period.

Other contracts were awarded to Trico Electric, Inc., Erie, electrical work, $824,000; Dougherty Co. Inc., Freeport, ventilating, $51,906. The new buildings will house 400 students each and will be located near Perry Lane. Completion date is September of 1968.

Dallas Youths Held, Carried Rifles, Pistol

State Police of the Warren substation apprehended two youths yesterday morning at Warren Area High School.

Both from Dallas, Texas, one was 14-years-old and one 15-years-old.

Police said the pair was traveling in a car stolen from the mother of one youth while the other had stolen money from his parents. They also had two rifles, a pistol, a telescopic sight, two portable lights and a quantity of fireworks in their possession. The boys told police they had taken the firearms from their parents.

When apprehended, the Dallas youths claimed they were lost.

Both are being held in the juvenile detention room at the county jail pending further investigation. They had been in the Tionesta area most of Sunday, according to police.

New Police Head Gives His Views

Members from 15 Fraternal Order of Police Lodges, one from each Pennsylvania State Police troop, met Sunday in Harrisburg with their new state police commissioner, Major Frank McKetta.

Sgt. Paul Dell, president of Swanson Memorial Lodge, said the commissioner will stress efficiency and service to the public. McKetta, who has served more time with the Pennsylvania State Police as a trooper rather than an enlisted man, also told FOP representatives that he is not in favor of transferring and that any man placed on suspension should be given the right to appeal. He said he well understood the problems of the men on the force and plans to use the FOP organizations as liaison between his office and state police personnel.

Dell said McKetta advised the men he wanted to learn the facts from the "horse's mouth" rather than fifth-hand or through rumors. The new commissioner is counting on an exchange of ideas and said he would attend lodge meetings when his schedule permitted.

McKetta stated that while, in the past, he didn't agree with some of the policies instituted, he was, at that time, in opposition to do anything about it. He favors more manpower, an adjusted scale of pensions and the improvement of the table of organization to correct areas where the situation appears to be top-heavy.

Dell said the men at Sunday's meeting were apparently pleased with Governor Shafer's appointment of a man who had come up through the ranks and that McKetta was endorsed by both Dennis Nicholson, of Havertown, Pa., state president of the FOP, and the national president, John Harrington, of Philadelphia.

Opens Bids Feb. 16 on 4.56 Miles Of Route 60 North of State Line

Bids on construction of the initial 4.56 miles of a new highway which will extend from Pennsylvania state line south of Kiatone to Gerry, N.Y., along the Route 60 corridor in Chautauque County, will be opened in Albany, on Feb. 16.

According to an announcement made by Governor Nelson Rockefeller, the segment on which the bids have been asked will begin on an improved route on the Pennsylvania system at the state line and follow County Road 77 for .66 northerly, then continue northwesterly to connect to Route 60 one mile west of Frewsburg.

Estimated to cost $2,293,000 the project provides for construction of the two northbound lanes of a proposed four-lane highway and will eliminate several sharp curves.

The 24-foot wide cement concrete pavement will serve two-way traffic pending future construction of the remaining two lanes. Ultimately the highway, which has not yet been numbered, will be extended northerly east of Jamestown to the vicinity of Gerry.

Also to be opened in Albany Feb. 16 are bids on construction of 9.77 miles of the Southern Tier Expressway in Tioga County at an estimated cost of $15,123,000.

No Trace Assailant Kane Man

FALCONER, N.Y. — New York State Police Trooper G. L. Carr of the Falconer substation reports no new developments in the search for the assailant who stabbed a 20-year-old Kane man early Sunday morning.

Police said the victim, Robert L. McGowan, of 308 Park ave., Kane, was treated and released from Warren General Hospital for a knife wound in the left rib cage received in a brawl in front of the Terrace Gardens Inn on Route 62, south of Frewsburg, and three miles north of the Pennsylvania line.

According to state police, McGowan was taken to WGH for treatment early Sunday morning by a friend but the attending physician reported the stab wound to the authorities.

The knife blade struck a rib which prevented it from causing a more serious wound. Police are continuing their investigation.

'UFO' Sighted West of Corry Is Burning Tree

CORRY — A reported unidentified flying object late Saturday night east of Rte. 89 in a wooded area near the Corry Drive-in Theatre, turned out to be a burning tree, according to Corry State Police.

Troopers Elmer Schifko and Richard Walgo started the investigation after receiving a call stating a "shining, reflecting light with three antennae sticking out" was spotted on a hillside about three miles west of Corry.

A closer investigation of the reported UFO revealed a large tree which earlier in the day had been burning and at midnight had given off an intense glare. The glare from the burning tree reportedly was seen for miles.

New Sick Leave Policy Adopted In Kane Schools

KANE — A new policy on sick leave was approved by the Kane Area Board of Education after a meeting last week with representatives of the Kane Area Teachers Association. Under the new policy, which will begin in September, retiring teachers will receive compensation for unused days of sick leave accumulated during their tenure.

The teachers will be paid $2 per day for unused sick days between a total of 51 and 100 days, and will be paid $4 for between 101 and 200 days of retirement. The maximum which may be received under this system will be $500.

The teachers are allowed 10 sick days per year and may accumulate days which are not used.

St. Louis Arch Slides Enjoyed By Rotary Club

Pittsburgh — Des Moines Steel Company presented a color sound moving picture at Warren Rotary Club yesterday which showed the progress of the great Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Arch in St. Louis, from the drawing board to the placing of the final keystone section. Rotary vice-president Henry Powell presented the program.

A visiting Rotarian was Douglas Cool, of Baldwin City, Kansas, former Methodist missionary in Borneo, who organized a Rotary Club in that country.

Craig Scalise was Warren High School Senior guest of the Club.

The "great memorial arch in St. Louis, commemorating the Westward expansion of our nation with the movement of the pioneers from the East, and also honoring Thomas Jefferson, proved a somewhat fantastic engineering project, requiring entirely new concepts in construction and fabrication. The progress of the structure since it began until its completion was followed with interest in Warren, because a large part of the arch was fabricated at the Warren plant of Pittsburgh-Des Moines.

License Suspensions

Two Warren County motorists have had their operators' licenses suspended or revoked for the period beginning Dec. 27. They are Clyde L. Knapp, 825 Hatch Run rd., speeding, three months and Daniel T. MacDonald, Barnes Star Route, Sheffield, financial responsibility, indefinite. A third, Laverne Haight of Pittsfield is also under suspension indefinitely and cited as an incompetent operator. Joan E. Leese of Tionesta is under suspension for one month, effective Dec. 16, for failure to stop after striking a parked car or damaging property.

Error in Report

An account of a 3:06 p.m. accident Sunday reversed the actual incident. According to the official police report, a car driven by Levi S. Huckabone, of 311 Pennsylvania ave. W., was pulling into a parking space in front of the Melroy Cafe on Pennsylvania ave., when it was struck by an eastbound car operated by William B. Siegel, 21 Kewick, Bethpage, N.Y. Police said the Siegel vehicle was unable to stop due to icy street conditions. Damage was confined to the Huckabone car and estimated at $135.

Probe Burglary, Youths Charged With Mischief

Warren borough police have questioned several suspects in an alleged burglary said to have occurred between 5 and 7 a.m. Saturday at the residence of Mrs. Royal A. Bonnell, of 300 Crescent pk.

Police said various foodstuffs were removed from a refrigerator.

The investigation is being continued. An incident of malicious mischief reported at 12:50 p.m. Saturday at the Library Theater with three juveniles apprehended.

According to police, the trio were throwing wet paper balls against the movie screen. There is a question as to whether the screen can be reutilized at a cost of $300 or will have to be replaced at a cost of $1,100.

One of the boys was from Warren borough, the others from the surrounding area, police stated.

Borough police also received a report yesterday morning that the radio antennae of a car owned by James Dibble, of 102 Sixth ave., had been broken off the fender. Two fender guards were also stolen.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

I was reading a book review recently when I came across a statement that intrigued me, mainly because it's so simple and so true.

Charles Poore of the New York Times was the reviewer and his subject was a book, "The Temper of Our Time." The statement was "We live in an age where there is still no general agreement on how to stay out of barbarous ways or even how to mix a perfect martini. The credibility gap is exceeded by the gullibility gap."

It is fair to say the modern journalism, like the modern citizen, is fat and lazy. That a so-called credibility gap can exist is less an indictment of the government that creates it than it is of the public which allows it to happen. It is the public and the Fourth Estate that is gullible, and that creates an atmosphere in which credibility can be stretched.

This is a comparatively modern thing, brought about when someone discovered he could run a lucrative business in an area called public relations. That, if you've rationalized the term, is a euphemism for propaganda. Propaganda is the art of presenting things not as they are, but as you would like them to appear to be.

Shorten that to credibility gap and you have the latest fracas in Washington. The trouble with the whole mess is that no one wants to call a spade a spade so they talk in verbiage—again presenting things not as they are but as they appear to be.

It goes back to a character in some half-written play of an acquaintance of mine at college. The only line in the whole manuscript worth anything was when one character translated a long string of verbiage into a short, declarative, simple statement. When asked how he could do it, the character answered: "I don't listen to what people say, man. I listen to what they mean."

NEEDS Carpet Cover

Unlike hard-surfaced mats with no dirt absorbing qualities, Carpet Cover has a super-tough NYLON TOP that absorbs and hides dirt and water in the pile. Wipes boots and shoes clean...drastically reduces maintenance costs.

The backing is VINYL which is more skid resistant than rubber, and won't become rubber-brittle with age. Grips floor...prevents falls...protects floors against spike heel damage.

Tracked-in dirt costs $100 a lb. in floor damage and maintenance. Carpet Cover traps it!

MR. AND MRS. DAVID CHARLES McDONALD

Couple United In Marriage In Texas Presbyterian Church

Sandra Ann Peters became the bride of David Charles McDonald in a double ring, candle-light nuptial service held at the Angleton Presbyterian Church in Angleton, Texas, recently. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Peters of Rt. 2, Angleton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. McDonald of 137 E. Magnolia, Angleton. He is also the great-grandson of Mrs. C. Frederick Bartsch of Warren.

The Rev. Tillman, pastor of the church, presided at the ceremony and wedding music was provided by Mrs. C. A. Moller at the organ, and Mrs. Herbert Peters, vocal soloist. White mums with greens and candelabra ornamented the altar of the church.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, the bride appeared in a white bridal gown of lace and tulle, styled with fitted bodice, square neckline and long tapering sleeves terminating in petal points at the wrists. Her bouffant skirt had side panels of the lace. A dainty crown of sequins and pearls secured her elbow length veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid corsage.

The maid of honor was the sister of the groom, Pamela McDonald, who wore pink lace over taffeta and matching veil.

She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The mother of the bride chose a three-piece gold knit suit with black patent accessories and a bronze mum corsage with green velvet ribbon. The mother of the groom wore a two-piece beige knit suit with black accessories and also had a corsage of bronze mums with green velvet ribbon. Both grandmothers of the groom were present at the wedding. Mrs. A. J. McDonald, and Mrs. Lucille Bartsch.

The reception was held in the Old Fellowship Hall with about seventy guests in attendance. Table decorations included a centerpiece of pink roses with greens, appointments of crystal, and a three tier wedding cake.

For traveling to San Antonio, Texas, the new Mrs. McDonald wore a two-piece knit suit of navy blue with red accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald are now at home at 221 East Lorraine, Angleton, Texas.

The bride attended Angleton Senior High School, and the groom attended San Jacinto High School. He is now employed by the Texas Department of Correction as a custodial officer.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom.

Calcium Drain NEW YORK (UPI) — Bone which does not receive stress from the weight of the body or the pull of muscles loses calcium. It may require months or years to restore the structure of osteoporotic (porous) bone following a period of immobilization.

So says a recent issue of Dairy Council Digest in a discussion of "Nutrition and Common Stress." The digest is an interpretative review of recent nutrition research. The article reported that a certain degree of stress on the skeletal system seems necessary to maintain calcium equilibrium. Losses of calcium develop with bed rest even in persons receiving an adequate diet.

Paper Dresses New Fashion For Young

By BERNADINE MORRIS (c) N. Y. Times News Service NEW YORK — Little girls will soon be able to spill ice cream, draw pictures and make cutouts on their clothes while their mothers smile benignly at their creativity.

Their dresses will be inexpensive, disposable and made of paper, a fashion development that may revolutionize children's clothes but is sure to delight astro-boy and batman fans. It is already creating more excitement among store buyers than such sober developments as no-iron fabrics.

"The president of my store called me this morning and asked what I was doing about paper dresses," George W. Oliver said the other day as he burst into the showroom of Tiny Town Togs. Oliver buys children's wear for Nevelles in Lakewood, Ohio. "He said we want to be first with them."

"Everybody is excited," Donald Kongsberg told Kongsberg's father, Stanley, who founded the children's dress concern 42 years ago, agreed he had seen nothing like it.

"I took them to Philadelphia and all four stores ordered them," the younger Kongsberg told his customer, adding that he hadn't yet had a chance to show them around New York. The Philadelphia stores, which will have the dresses "After Easter," are Strawbridge & Clothier, Wanamaker's, Lit Brothers and Gimbels.

"The children will have fun with them — they can paste things on them or scallop the hems," he continued as he presented his styles.

The dresses, which have a crinkled surface something like seersucker, are whimsically decorated with butterfly appliques, a row of lace or a giant print. One has a ruffled hem,

"Just like a real dress," Kongsberg explained. With their tent shapes and cotton-bound necklines and armholes, they not only look like real dresses but also are sized like them on 3 to 6x and 7 to 14.

The smaller range will sell from $2.25, the other group for $2.50.

Where they differ from traditional clothes is that, like the other paper fashions, they can be thrown away after four or five wearings — fewer for a destructive child or one who is accident prone.

This is turned into an advantage by most producers, who point out that the paper clothes can be taken on trips and then discarded, leaving room in the suitcase for souvenirs and saving mothers the prospect of a big wash when they get home.

"Let's burn one now," is the way prospective buyers are greeted by Stanley Lone, whose father founded the children's wear concern of Joseph Lone. It is his way of countering one of the first objections usually raised to paper clothing: that it will go up in flames.

The paper singes and turns brown, but it doesn't flare and is consequently less flammable than some cotton textiles, he explains.

Washing is prohibited, more because it would remove the fire-retarding chemicals than because it would reduce the paper to pulp, but Lone anticipates technical improvements that will extend the life of the garments to 20 or 30 wearings.

"We're on the brink of a new way of dressing children," he said. "We're just at the beginning of the nonwoven fabric era, which will send children's clothing prices down when everything else goes up."

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the woman who resented going to the beauty shop and putting up with other people's noisy, poorly behaved children caught my eye. She said she wanted to go the beauty shop for relaxation — to get away from her own kids — and I can certainly see her point. But my complaint is of a different nature and I beg you to print it.

When I go to a beauty shop I like to come out smelling fresh and clean, but today it is impossible. I have tried three shops and they are all the same — blue with cigarette smoke. The last place was the worst. I counted 14 patrons with cigarettes — one woman had a cigar. Every beautician had a cigarette going. Yesterday the operator who did my hair almost set me on fire.

If you can solve this problem you're a genius. — CEILING ZERO

DEAR ZERO: Find a salon with individual booths instead of one large room. Bring a small bottle of vinegar along on your next visit and ask the operator to pour some in a saucer and place it near you. The vinegar will absorb the smoke. When you leave, pour the vinegar back in the bottle and ask the operator to put it away for the next time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Eight months ago when I started to work as a volunteer in a hospital I met a very attractive patient. Jim had been seriously injured in a motorcycle accident. He was in the hospital for nearly six months. I saw him at least four times a week.

The day Jim was discharged he asked me to marry him and I said yes. He bought me a ring the following week. The very first day he was allowed to leave the house he took his motorcycle and got into another accident. This time he almost lost a leg.

I am very upset over this, Ann. What's more, the first thing he asked about when he came out of the anesthetic was how badly was his bike banged up.

Today when I took him out in the wheel chair all he talked about was getting a new motorcycle.

I love this guy but I don't want to be a widow at 22. Do I have the right to tell him I will marry him only if he gives up the motorcycle? — HAD IT WITH THE TIN

DEAR HAD IT: You do — and you should. I also suggest that you learn what other accidents Jim has had. I suspect there have been several. Find out from an authority what this means before you tie up with him forever.

Where YOU Are Our FIRST Concern

Society

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A certain girl (I will call her Joan) has been a steady Saturday night sitter for us for over a year. She is very dependable and the children like her better than any of the other sitters.

Last week Joan told me that she has started to go steady and from now on her boy friend is going to keep her company when she sits. My husband doesn't like the idea. I see nothing wrong with it. We have agreed to do as you say — LAKE FOREST

DEAR LAKE: I say get another sitter. If you provide a cozy setup for a couple of teenagers you are promoting whatever happens — and take it from me, it's happening very often, — and right under the trusting noses of people like you.

The business of a sitter is to be in charge of your home and children in your absence, it's a job and should be treated as a job not a social engagement.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE.

I found a good use for the empty, plastic detergent bottles.

I pour rubbing alcohol in them so it will be easier for my mother to use. The pull-up cap is easier for her to handle and it can be pulled up halfway to dispense a small amount.

If the bottle should be dropped, it won't break.

Be sure you put a prominent label on it.

Dottie

DEAR HELOISE Have trouble getting the last bit of the shortening from the can?

When ready to use the last of the shortening, I merely remove the lid and set the can in my heavy cast iron skillet and put it on the fire. All the shortening melts to the bottom of the can.

There is no scorching or fear of catching fire because the can is in the skillet.

I then pour the liquid fat in the skillet and the can is cleaned out completely with no waste at all.

The bidding:
South West North East
Pass 1 ♠ Dbic. Pass
2 NT Pass 3 NT Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

An impulsive play by East at the opening gun nullified the inspired lead of his partner in defending against South's three no trump contract.

West gave considerable thought to his opening attack. From the bidding, it appeared that South was well fortified in spades, and that West's best hope, therefore, was to locate his partner's suit. Diamonds offered the most appealing prospect for attack, and he opened the four of that suit. But for East's lack of cooperation, this would have been the killing defense.

The jack of diamonds was played from dummy and East, without a moment's hesitation, covered with the queen—which held the trick. A diamond was returned to West's ace and a third round cleared the suit as South won the trick with the ten. Declarer proceeded to drive out the ace of clubs but, since West had no more diamonds and was unable to get his partner in, South succeeded in running off with 10 tricks.

As soon as East put up the queen of diamonds, he retired himself permanently from the play. Observe the effect, if he permits the jack to hold the first trick and contents himself with giving an encouraging signal by playing the nine of diamonds. When West gets in with the ace of clubs, his ace of diamonds will drop the king, and another diamond to East's queen will enable the latter to cash two more tricks in the suit.

The play of the nine can hardly lose. If West has four diamonds, then declarer's remaining card in the suit will drop on the next round. What if South doesn't have the ten of diamonds? Well in that case he would surely put up dummy's king on the first trick, since the opening bidder is clearly marked with the ace.

Kane Facing Hike in School Lunch Prices

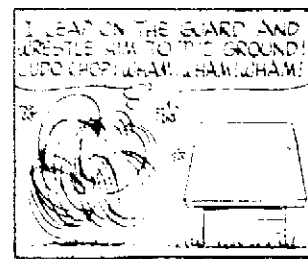

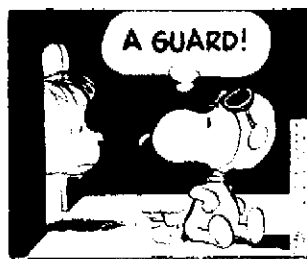

KANE—It appears that the handwriting is on the wall; that either the school board will increase the subsidization of the local high school cafeteria lunch programs or the price of meals charged pupils and adults will be increased with the start of the next school year.

This was evident at the monthly meeting of the Kane Area School District directors last week in the Junior high school library here.

Faculty member Paul Mowery, who has been in charge of the Senior High and Junior High cafeterias for many years, has had increasing problems this school year because of reductions in federal surplus food supplies to the cafeterias.

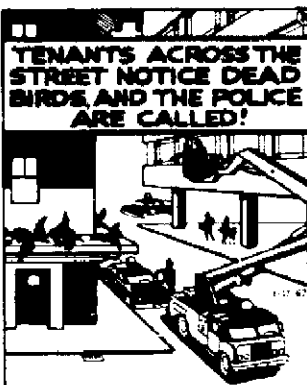

Smaller surplus food supplies for school lunch programs have resulted in most school districts raising the prices of meals in recent months. Instead of doing that, the local school board voted to subsidize the cafeteria program recently.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1967
ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Even though planetary influences are somewhat on the mild side, solid gains can be registered if you operate in a quiet efficient manner. Avoid haste and pressure and you should do well.
TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Your Venus propitious. Especially sponsored: Sound business transactions, real estate deals, artistic matters, family interests.
GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — This should surely be one of your will-to-win days, with so much of opportunity, friendship and esteem on your side. Resolve to do your utmost, while emphasizing your bright personality.
CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Study trends. Whether are you going? Intuition and instinct can assist you if properly utilized. Stress accuracy. Be direct but not abrupt with others.
LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Planetary aspects generally advise against hasty speech, thoughtless acts. Day has plenty of advantages for those who are alert and ambitious. Keep to your highest standards.
VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — Tabulate matters to be worked upon; arrange them according to importance. Set plan of attack, then FORWARD! Be cautious in unfamiliar ventures, however.
LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Tact and finesse should help you attain ends you could not achieve with force. Discount rumors, seek truths, avoid irritability.
SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — If not advancing as you would like, change your pattern of operation. Others may assist somewhat but, in general, you must draft your own program. Be ready for the unexpected. And DO emphasize your innate aggressiveness.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Be alert and your calm, capable self, and problems will be resolved more easily. Your persuasiveness can do much, but be certain it is not misdirected.
CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Some changes indicated that may require the substitution of new ideas, methods and habits in place of old, outmoded ones. Seek practical outlets for your talents.
AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Strive to further plans set in motion earlier. A shipshape performance can be yours now. Emphasize dignity, understanding, discretion, self-confidence.
PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Neptune's position indicates that this is a time to step up efforts. Mix with those who encourage your desire to achieve. Good news in the making.

YOU BORN TODAY come directly to the point in speech, are terse, realistic in writings; may mentally soar to the clouds (often expressed in poetry or art), but when practical action is needed, can be in there first — and with surety. Once there, you know how to stay on top. You can excel in many ways, accomplishing as artists, scientists, doctors, explorers, writers and sportsmen. Your trigger-quick mind always sees a place for a good idea or a new method and fits it neatly, profitably. Birthdate of Pope Plus V; Benjamin Franklin, early American statesman, diplomat, scientist.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

CRICK IN THE NECK

Neck pain that develops suddenly usually is caused by a minor injury to one of the supporting muscles or ligaments. The crick often stems from sleeping in an unusual position. Distress also may follow a sudden jerk when riding in a car (whiplash) or an accident in which the head is rotated to the side. In young children the crick may follow a fall in which the neck is pulled or twisted. As a rule, the pain usually subsides within a few days especially when heat is applied and the muscles are gently massaged. Aspirin also helps.

Recurrent or persistent pain in the neck is more bothersome. There are many possible causes but when no abnormality can be found the physician usually recommends changes in sleeping habits, exercises, and a support for the neck.

The victim should sleep on the back or on either side — not on the abdomen. A small feather pillow helps to avoid unusual angles and stress upon the neck. A collar can be made by folding a Turkish towel four times lengthwise. It is wrapped around the neck and the overlap is adjusted beneath the chin. The towel is fastened with pins. A thick strip of felt or a neck brace can be worn during the day.

Apply heat to the neck for 20 minutes daily. A heat lamp, heating pad, or a hot wet towel may be used. Standing under a hot shower also affords relief. Neck exercises are valuable and easy to do. (Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on neck exercises.) Now and then traction is used to stretch the neck muscles and spine.

Conservative treatment is less effective when neck pain is traced to arthritis of the neck, a herniated disk, spinal cord tumor, or a serious injury. Pain from these conditions may radiate into the shoulders and down one or both arms. Pain in the neck is traced occasionally to bursts of the shoulder, chest disorders such as lung or breast cancer, and heart pain (angina pectoris).

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

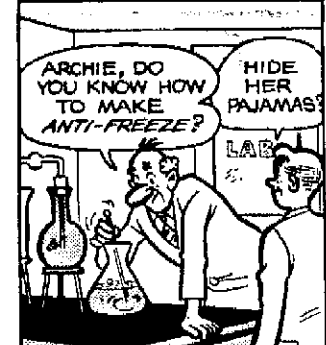

TOMORROW: Contentment in Old Age.

Accidents Took 5,000 More Lives in '66

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Accidents in the United States claimed 5,000 more lives in 1966 than in 1965, according to the statistics of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Last year's death toll was about 112,000, or some 20,000 more than five years ago.
The 1966 accidental death rate of 57 per 100,000 population was 4 percent over the rate for the previous year and 13 percent higher than in 1961.
The major reason for the upswing was the continuing rise in motor vehicle fatalities. The 53,000 persons who perished in motor vehicle accidents in 1966 outnumbered by 4,000 their counterparts of the year before. At 27 per 100,000, the 1966 death rate from motor vehicle accidents was by far the highest in a quarter of a century. Metropolitan's statisticians also estimated from preliminary data that the rate of accidental deaths per 100 million miles traveled was slightly above the 5.6 recorded in 1965.

Accidents in and about the home also accounted for a substantial portion of the rise. There were 29,000 such deaths in 1966, about 1,000 more than in 1965.
However, the death toll from calastrophes — accidents claiming five or more lives — was smaller in 1966 than a year ago. Although motor vehicle and water transportation catastrophes caused more deaths, this was offset by a smaller loss of life in tornadoes, civil and military aviation, hurricanes, floods, fires and explosions.

There were at least 71 motor vehicle catastrophes in 1966, taking more than 440 lives in all. These accounted for nearly half of all catastrophes and almost two-fifths of catastrophic deaths.

The past year saw six major catastrophes, each of which took more than 25 lives. The largest of these was the crash of a military chartered plane on April 22 in Oklahoma, causing 83 deaths. On March 3 tornadoes killed 57 persons in Mississippi and 1 in Alabama. A severe blizzard, also in March, claimed 28 lives in the northern Great Plains. On August 6 a scheduled plane plunged to earth in Nebraska and killed 42. Two tankers collided near Bayonne, New Jersey, in June, taking 33 lives; and the remaining disaster involved the sinking of a freighter on November 29 in Lake Huron, with 28 lives lost.

Marriages Show Gain In County During 1965

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — Warren County's marriage rate climbed during 1965 while the divorce rate dropped, according to State Health Department statistics.
The marriage rate of 9.3 per 1000 population in 1965 compares with the previous year's 7.6, or looking at it another way the number of marriages in the county climbed from 359 to 452.
A month-by-month breakdown of the number of marriages in the county during 1965 (with figures for that month of the preceding year in parenthesis) is as follows:
January, 32 (14); February, 28 (26); March, 26 (26); April, 36 (22); May, 38 (32); June, 62 (46); July, 61 (44); August, 46 (36); September, 41 (32); October, 40 (32); November, 24 (22); and December, 30 (26).
Statewide the number of marriages climbed from 76,650 to 80,187, the highest since 1953 when 80,316 marriages were recorded. June was the most popular month for marriage with 10,683 or 13.3 percent of all marriages; August, with 8628 marriages, was the second most popular month, March was the lowest month with 3662 marriages.

Interestingly, the median age of all brides in 1965 was 22.2 years as compared with 22.1 years in 1964 while the median age for grooms remained at 24 years. The median age for brides remarrying in 1965 was 37.8 years (37.1 years in 1964) and 41.5 years for grooms (41.2 years).
The department reported there were 86 divorces in Warren County in 1965—down 24 from 1964. The divorce rate dropped from 2.3 to the latest 1.8 per 1000 population for the county.
The median age of females divorced in 1965 was 35 years (34.7 years), while for males it was 38.2 years (38.1 years). Indignities was the leading legal grounds for divorces in Pennsylvania, accounting for 12,079 or 73 percent of all divorces. Desertion was the second leading cause for divorce with 2726, and cruelty was third with 1177.

Surplus Food
Surplus food will be distributed to all Warren area recipients from the depot at Fourth ave. and Beech st., from 9 a.m. until noon and 1-4 p.m. tomorrow. Friday's distribution is scheduled for the Russell area from the fire hall. Hours are noon to 3 p.m. Bring your own containers.

Agreement On Common Bible Near

ROME (AP) — Roman Catholics and Protestants are near agreement on the text of a common Bible despite opposition to the book remaining in both churches, the Vatican's chief negotiator on common Bible problems said Sunday night.
The Rev. Walter M. Abbott of New York told a group of priests at the Pontifical Bible Institute that the churches were working toward compromise on two crucial points and "we practically have in our hands the common Bible text."
Biblical scholars of both churches met in Rome this month to begin studying translation needs for a common Bible. Pope Paul VI recently authorized Catholic participation on the basis of a suggestion by the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Starbrick 1966 Fire Loss $400

Fire damage in the Starbrick area during the year of 1966 was held to a low $400, according to the annual report of Fire Chief Bob Smith, submitted at the regular monthly meeting of the Starbrick Volunteer Fire Department.

Officers were elected, as follows: president, James Stockdill; vice president, Carl Smith; secretary, Steve Brown; treasurer, Paul Nordin; chief, Robert Smith; director (five years), Carl Smith; in charge of renting fire hall, Theron Esterbrook; custodial engineer, Frank Barney.

A committee was named to inquire into purchase of a new truck. A breakdown of fire calls for the past year showed the company answering a total of 14 alarms. One all-night Civil Defense drill was held while six instructor drills were conducted. The company answered two oil fires, 1 grass fire, 3 rubbish, 3 house, 1 automobile, 2 trailer, 1 peolator call, while one inquiry was conducted following a complaint of fumes.

A total of $35,000 in property was involved in the fire calls, but damage was held to a low $400. One hundred and twenty-seven men responded to calls during the year, the company spending a total of nine hours and 20 minutes, with an overall of 1143 man hours of service to the community. Trucks were driven a total of 100 miles in answering the calls during 1966.

A light lunch was served following the business meeting, with Paul McElhatten and Steve Brown in charge. The next meeting will be held on Feb. 8.

The National Tunnel, on the Southern Railway, in southwest Virginia, is believed to be the only natural tunnel in the world used by a railroad.

KINZUA VALLEY EXHIBIT

Artifacts excavated in the Kinzua Valley, dating from 8000 B.C., are exhibited at Lantz Supermarket in Pleasant Township. From left: Terry Lantz, who began digging at the age of 10; Richard Bines; Mrs. Adda McClain, vice president, Kinzua Chapter 18, Pennsylvania Society for Archaeology; and Stanley Lantz, assistant field geologist for Carnegie Museum and president Kinzua Chapter 18. Lantz Has Exhibit Of Kinzua Artifacts

Stanley Lantz, assistant field archaeologist for Carnegie Museum, and president Kinzua Chapter 18, Pennsylvania Society for Archaeology, has arranged a display of artifacts of prehistoric man in the Kinzua Valley, at Lantz Supermarket in Pleasant Township.

The pottery, projectile points, stone axes and other items range over a period of approximately 10,000 years, the oldest dating about 8000 B.C., the most recent around 1700 A.D.

The historical relics were excavated by Lantz over a period of years. He has been engaged in archaeology for more than two decades. His son, Terry, has been working on excavations since he was 10.

Some of the oldest pottery and projectile points, and a well preserved elk's horn dating around 500 B.C., were taken from rock shelters in the Kinzua Valley. Other items were excavated more recently on sites above the Kinzua Dam which will soon be under water, and which opened up new pages in the pre-history of this region.

Great public interest in the artifacts recovered from recent excavations in the Kinzua Valley have prompted Stanley Lantz to arrange the display.

Jamestown Sets Sweet Adelines Show Saturday

Jamestown Sweet Adelines are presenting their fifth Harmony Holiday at 8 p.m. Saturday at Southwestern Central School.

Entitled "Harmony Hoe-down," the show will feature the Jamestown Chorus, under the direction of Beth Congdon; the Chautauqua-Tones; The B-Naturals; Slim Griffin and his Country Gentlemen; and the Flower City Four of the Rochester SPEESQA.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

The featured quartet, the Flower City Four, were originated in 1954 with the name coming from the nickname of Rochester, "Flower City."

They won their district competition in 1955 at Corning and were alternates to the International in 1956. In 1957, they were international semi-finalists at Los Angeles.

Personnel changes then kept the group from its usual calibre of competition. In 1961, the group re-activated to take part in an inter-chapter get-together with a Canadian chapter. They have been on the go ever since.

Clarion Cuts Road

Fatalities in Half

CLARION—Highway fatalities in Clarion County during the year of 1966 totaled eight, just half the number who lost their lives in the previous year.

Captain Clarence F. Temke, commanding officer of Troop "C" at Punxsutawney, credited this to "better and closer patrolling of highways throughout Clarion County."

The other six counties in the area under the Punxsutawney command showed: Clearfield, 14 fatalities, compared to eight in 1965; Elk County had five in 1966 and 21 in 1965; Forest County, blank both years; Jefferson, seven for 1966 and 13 for 1965, while McKean County had 16, compared with nine for 1965.

Traffic Command School March 13

UNIVERSITY PARK, PA. — A number of leading Pennsylvania police administrators and traffic specialists will serve on the instructional staff of a Traffic Command School to be conducted here March 13-17.

Among the guest speakers for the five-day meeting will be: Harry H. Brainerd, commissioner, Pennsylvania Bureau of Traffic Safety; Colonel Paul A. Riddleman, acting commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police; James McNamee, superintendent, Philadelphia Police Academy; and Donald M. McNeil, consulting traffic engineer, Pittsburgh.
